

President Tries to Win Early Passage Of Civil Rights Bill

Committee Vote on Measure Scheduled for Next Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has taken a personal hand in an attempt to win passage this year of a civil rights bill.

But the best the President could get out of a White House conference with House leaders Wednesday night, informed sources said, was a decision to delay until next Tuesday a crucial committee vote on a bill which the administration feels is too strong to get through Congress.

Informed sources disclosed Wednesday night's one-hour meeting at the White House.

Nobel Prize To Greek Poet

Diplomat First of His Country to Win Coveted Honor

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Greek Poet Giorgos Seferis was awarded the 1963 Nobel Prize in literature today.

Seferis

Seferis, a 53-year-old diplomat, is the first Greek ever to receive a Nobel prize.

The 18-member Royal Swedish Literary Academy said Seferis was awarded the 265,000 crown ($51,158) prize "for his eminent, lyrical writing, inspired by a deep feeling for the Hellenic world of culture."

"Seferis' poetic production is not great in size, but because of its unique thought and style, and its beauty of language, it has become a lasting symbol of all that is indestructible in the Hellenic acceptance of life," the academy's permanent secretary, Dr. Anders Osterling, said in his citation.

The academy announcement added that "it has given the Swedish academy great pleasure, through this prize to Giorgos Seferis, to pay tribute to the Greece of today, whose

Hassan Offers to Meet Ben Bella

MARRAKESH, Morocco (AP) — King Hassan II offered today to meet Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella "anywhere and without prior conditions" to stop bloodshed between the two North African nations.

At the same time, the youthful monarch appealed to Ben Bella to quit what he called undermining of the Moroccan regime.

Hassan told a news conference he is making no prior conditions on a meeting with the Algerian chief of state to iron out all difficulties between the two nations.

Britain Asked to Double Funds for Education

Big Lift Speeding To Its Completion

Gigantic Troop Ferrying May Be Concluded This Evening

BY CARL HARTMAN

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Exercise Big Lift moved swiftly and efficiently ahead today.

The Army and Air Force had with all indications pointing to set a 72-hour deadline for completion ahead of schedule for the historic airlift or more than U.S. history.

Military spokesmen thought the bulk of the transatlantic ferrying would be completed by 10 p.m.—some 63 hours after the troops in Europe.

Sale of Downer Land Needs OK By Legislature

State Must Raise $10,000,000 Price For Purchase

POST-CRESCENT MADISON BUREAU

MADISON—Acquisition of the property of Milwaukee-Downer College in Milwaukee by the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee is contingent upon the willingness of the Legislature to raise the $10,000,000 agreed-upon purchase price, state officials said today.

The regents of the university Tuesday announced their approval of the purchase of the property of the girls' school adjacent to the campus of UW-M. as the trustees of Lawrence College of Appleton and Milwaukee-Downer simultaneously announced the merger of their resources and their educational programs on the Lawrence campus.

A. W. Peterson, vice president of business affairs for the University, explained that the parties are aware of the need for legislative approval of the transaction to make it effective.

Lack of Ready Cash

He and other officials said they assume that the state will arrange to cover the purchase price for the Downer buildings and land through a bond issue, because of the lack of ready cash in the state treasury available for a legislative appropriation.

But the bonding capacity of the state through its building corporations for the next two

New York Couple Become Parents Of Quadruplets

NEW YORK — (AP) — Quadruplets, three girls and a boy, were born last night to a Reso Park, Queens, couple at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

Early today the hospital said Mrs. Rhoda Brecker, 27, and

the four babies all were in satisfactory condition.

Mrs. Brecker had known she would have a multiple birth, the hospital said, but had not known it would be quadruplets.

Mrs. Brecker and her husband, Martin, have been married almost six years. They have no other children. The mother resigned last spring as a Brooklyn school teacher. The father is an attorney.

The children, in order of birth, were a girl weighing 4 pounds; a boy, 2 pounds, 15 ounces; a girl, 3 pounds, 11 ounces; and a girl, 2 pounds, 12 ounces.

Brecker said: "I was stunned. I was dumbfounded."

Hurricane Hits Florida Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Ginny lashed Florida's up- coast east coast with gales today as she crept closer to land.

But the Weather Bureau said Ginny probably wouldn't whip ashore within the next 12 hours. Even if she did, forecaster Gordon Dunn said, "there should be no major damage."

Ginny's peak winds of 75 miles an hour barely qualified her as a hurricane.

Although the Weather Bureau wasn't taking bets on where Ginny would go next, a course 50 to 100 miles offshore parallel to the Florida coast was predicted.

23 Terrorists Under Arrest in Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Acting on a tip from peasants, 15 government troops Wednesday arrested 23 pro-Castro terrorists in a mountain hideout 95 miles east of Caracas. The government accused them of sabotaging U.S.-owned oil installations.

Fund-Raiser for GOP

Goldwater Follows Own Formula In Travels Throughout Country

BY WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Advice from the White House cuts no ice these days with Sen. Barry Goldwater. But the political formula the Arizona Republican follows is in line with an unsolicited tip from President Kennedy.

Goldwater, a possibility for the GOP presidential nomination next year, has spanned the continent twice on a hectic two-weekend round of speaking engagements.

Kennedy's Comment

Kennedy said two weeks ago Goldwater could win the GOP nomination, but it would take "a trying seven or eight months which will test his endurance and his perseverance and his agility."

The formula is one that has made Goldwater a champion among Republican fund-raisers.

He says it has acquainted him with Republican workers from coast to coast, and he credits that for his showing in the public opinion polls.

Goldwater's travels have few of the trappings of a campaign. He says most of his speaking dates, from Massachusetts to

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, possibilities for the Republican presidential nomination, have been crisscrossing the nation expounding their political views. Neither is an announced candidate at this point, but they are giving thousands of voters a look at their campaign techniques. How do they operate? What have they been saying? Associated Press reporters who have traveled with them provide an assessment—today, how Goldwater ticks. A story on Rockefeller will follow.

Conservation Body Likely To Await Outcome of Fight In State's Supreme Court

MADISON (AP) — Sheboygan appointee can serve unless he is and Madison will be the scenes of a Friday of skirmishes in the continuing battle over Gov. John W. Reynolds' power of appointing his appointees in the Supreme Court suit. Schmitt is expected to concur in the attorney general's request that the court observation commissioners at a take original jurisdiction in the Sheboygan meeting. The commission is expected to refuse to seal Martin Hanson of Mellen and Milwaukee alderman Harold J. Jankowski.

Hanson and Jankowski were appointed by Reynolds and sworn in to replace Charles Smith Sr. of Wausau and Guido Rahr of Manitowish. The original terms of both men expired July 27.

Court Decision Awaited

Roy Tulane, an assistant attorney general, said the Conservation Commission has been advised to "preserve the status quo" on the commission until settlement of a state Supreme Court suit aimed at testing the governor's appointive powers.

"The two new men can be present," Tulane said, but Smith and Rahr are to be "recognized as members of the Commission."

Preliminary arguments are scheduled Friday afternoon in Madison on a Supreme Court order for several appointees to show cause why the court should not take original jurisdiction in the test case.

Thompson Starts Suit

Atty. Gen. George Thompson started the suit in which he alleges a governor has no power to oust a person from office and replace him with an appointee not confirmed by the state Senate.

The attorney general contends that Rahr should be retained in office until Jankowski's appointment has been confirmed by the Senate.

And Tulane said Smith's claim to the post of conservation commissioner "is identical ballot to Rahr's."

One reason for the court test is that the Republican-controlled Senate has refused to act on several appointments made by the Democratic governor.

Thompson's Position

In his petition, the attorney general argues that a governor cannot replace an officeholder except with a nominee confirmed by the Senate.

In cases in which a vacancy occurs through resignation, the attorney general takes the position the governor may make an interim appointment and the appointee will serve until the next election.

Possible Referendum

The first question asks if a referendum among attorneys on Rabinovitz's qualifications is desired. If the answer is in the affirmative, the other portion of the ballot provides space for a vote on whether or not Rabinovitz is considered qualified for appointment.

A notation says that results of the ballot will not be made public unless a majority of the ballot's first question "yes" to the first question Oct. 31 was set as the deadline for receipt of ballots.

In the opinion of the executive committee the Senate subcommittee considering the matter "might be aided if it had an expression of the opinion of the lawyers of the state."

The coroner said the men were working on the 29th level of the mine when a drill they were operating apparently set off a blasting charge which had been left from a previous operation.

America Has Many Languages, But Most People Speak English

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

POTPOURRI — Yes, we speak English — or a reasonable likeness of it — but don't get the idea that there is no such thing as an American language. Actually, there are some 48 of them, like Blackfoot, Cree, Micmak, Ottawa, Abenaki, Passamaquaddy, Mohican, Miami, Sac, Fox, Kickapoo, Shawano and others, all of which (in this group) speak versions of the Algonquian tongue.

The Senecas, Onondagos, Oneidas, Mohawks, Tuscaroras, Hurons, etc. speak versions of Iroquois. The Assiniboin, Sioux, Winnebago, Omaha, Manda, Osage, Tutelo, etc., speak versions of the Dakota tongue.

And the language of the Cherokees, Creeks, Choctaws, Chickasaws, Yemassess and Seminoles belong to the Ghatta-Muskogee tongue. The Caddo Indians and the Pawnees, Arickaree and the Wichita dialects belong to another major tongue — Caddo.

The Ute and the Commancho fricasse, sausage, victuals, salad, parboil and jelly among others.

Even Whiskey?
We pilfered from the Celts, such words as bard, shamrock, clan, dirk, kill and even whiskey. And from the Roman language we took so many words that a list here is not possible.

From the Dutch we took hundreds of words — like ahoy, aloof, ballast, blunderbus, boom, manikin, sloop, switch, uproar, wagon, yacht, etc. And from the Danes we got such words as plough and ask.

Most of our words of science are from Greek as are the words siege, battalion, general, brigadier, lieutenant, sergeant, corporal, cannonade, arms, banlithography and photography among others.

We borrow our musical terms from the Italians because they are better at music than we have been. Italian are such words as soprano, duet, contralto, stanza, trombone, trio, canto, fugus, solo, quartet, opera, piano, allegro, adagio, etc.

So and so on . . .
So wouldn't it be accurate to say that American is multi-lingual?

Furthermore, we say a good many foreign words and names incorrectly. We say "eyef'l" for Eiffel which should be e-fel'.

Gen-o'wa for Genoa which should be Gen'-na; we say gon-do'la for gon' do-la, we say Pyu-chi-ni for Puccini which is correctly pronounced Poo-chee'-nee; we say cue for queue which should be ku; we say Pee-cos for Pecos which should be Pay'-cos.

For San Juan we say San-wan' instead of San-hwan'. We say Soo Saint Marie for Sault Sainte Marie and it should be Soo-Saint-Mary. We call Rheims "Reems" instead of the French "Rans"; we say cap-a-pie' for the term which is spelled that way and is cap-a-pee; we say ee-pray for Ypres which should be e'pr. We say U-kraine' for U'-kraine; we say bur'-bon for Bourbon which should be Boor'-bon; we say Cal-ay for Calais which should be Cal'-ay.

You Say It
For the word campanile, we often say, "camp-a-nile" instead of cam-pa-neel-la. When we use au gratin we say, aw gra'-tin, when we should say it correctly, oh grah-tan'. We say vokes' wagon for Volkswagon which, in German is Volkswagen. We say wad-a-la-ha-ra instead of wath-a-la-ha'-ra. And we pronounce Tchaikovsky "Chay-kov'-kee" instead of Chy-kof'skee.

Likelele to us in you-kalay'-lee when it should be ook-cuh-lay'-ay. And — I don't think we should pronounce the name Youghiog-nik of Pestigo, as Marinette County coroner.

Blahnik was named to fill the unexpired term of Edward L. O'Hearon, who died last week. Leonard S. Zubrensky, legal office of coroner.

Reynolds' Counsel
Protests Naming of Coroner by Olson
MADISON (AP) — Lt. Gov. Jack Olson, acting in the absence of the governor, announced the appointment Wednesday of Dr. Clarence L. Blahnik of Pestigo, as Marinette County coroner.

Blahnik was named to fill the unexpired term of Edward L. O'Hearon, who died last week. Leonard S. Zubrensky, legal counsel for Gov. John W. Reynolds, immediately challenged Olson's authority to appoint Blahnik.

Reynolds, a Democrat, is in Japan on a State Department tour. Olson is a Republican. A spokesman for the lieutenant governor said Olson acted Tuesday before Judge C. B. Dil-

Halloween Party Planned In Kaukauna

Activities for All School-Age Children Set

KAUKAUNA — Plans are under way for a Halloween party for all school-age children in the community, according to James Gertz, recreation director.

The Oct. 31 party will be sponsored jointly by the recreation department and Modern Woodmen of America. Parties for grade school children start at 7 p.m. at the Vaudette and Rialto theaters where costumes will be judged and souvenirs distributed.

A special feature will be the "witch wagon" with special awards made to five youngsters attending at home 30 minutes after the conclusion of the party. Modern Woodmen have donated toys and other gifts. Additional prizes will be furnished by the recreation department.

Over 1,000 Last Year

Last year's party attracted over 1,000 children and teenagers and a larger crowd is expected this year. Gertz asked cooperation of parents and schools in urging youngsters to use this event as a sensible way to celebrate Halloween.

A dance for high school students will begin at 7 p.m. in the school gym with music provided by a local orchestra through the local musicians recording trust fund. Souvenirs and refreshments will be awarded and prizes given for the most appropriate costume.

Al Fraser, local representative, stated, "Modern Woodmen of America is sponsoring similar costume parties in hundreds of communities in the United States as part of its program for furthering the general welfare of the youth of the nation, and in conformity with its policy of contributing to local community progress."

Writer Suggests Naming Liner After Churchill

LONDON (AP) — The Daily Mirror's columnist, Cassandra, proposes that Britain name its planned new transatlantic liner the Winston Churchill. It would make a hit with Americans, he said.

Noting that Sir John Brookbank, chairman of the Cunard Line, had remarked "I've thought of every name right down from Queen Victoria to Jackie Kennedy," the columnist said:

"People who have not visited the United States cannot fully grasp the admiration that the American people feel for our man. Royalty they regard with amused affection at best, but Churchill is something very different. He is up in the Lincoln and Washington class."

Mock U.N. Assembly Session Planned at St. Therese School

Eighth graders at St. Therese Catholic School will present mock sessions of the United Nations General Assembly and Security Council Thursday in a program commemorating the 18th birthday of the United Nations.

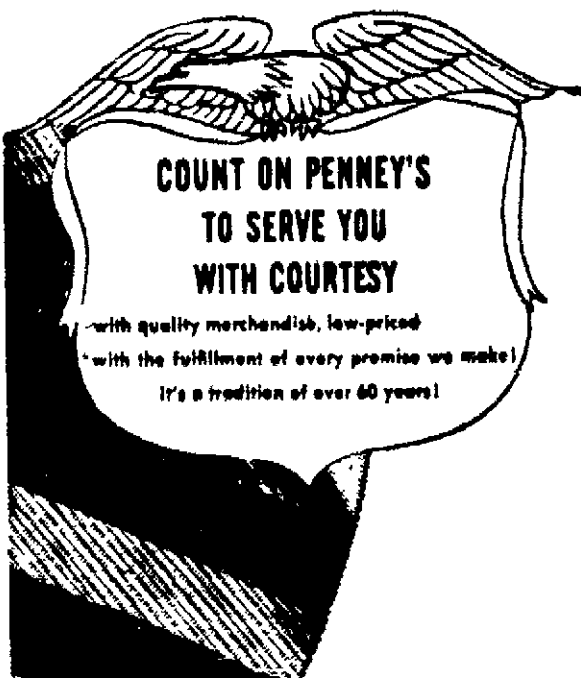

The program also will include a humorous skit on world problems, entitled "This Is Your Hour," and two songs, "Home Sweet Home Around the World" and "Why This Tumult Among Nations."

The stage background will feature flags of nations belonging to the UN and the UN emblem.

The three eighth grade teachers in charge of the program are Sisters Madonna, De Paul and Angelyn.

Carpenter Backs Up Roach at Quarterback In Packer Workout

Sidelined Starr Takes Part in Club's Exercises

GREEN BAY (AP) — Green Bay's Lew Carpenter has a steady job, but he never knows where. He has a key role with the Packers as possibly the No. 1 handyman in the National Football League.

Although listed as a halfback, Carpenter also has played at fullback, the flanker position and at end and been used for punt and kickoff returns. Now he finds himself the Packers' No. 2 quarterback.

With Bart Starr sidelined indefinitely with a broken right hand, reserve quarterback John Roach has moved up to the starting signal-caller berth. It seemed only natural that Coach Vince Lombardi name Carpenter to back up Roach.

Carpenter's only experience at quarterback has been directing an opponent's plays in practice the week before a game. He has shown he knows enough to handle the job in an emergency. Carpenter was the target of good natured kidding as he worked at quarterback for Green Bay's regular offensive unit Wednesday in a spirited, one-hour drill. He laughed back at his teammates—and switched to other offensive assignments on occasion to keep in practice.

Rushing Leader

After starring at the University of Arkansas, Carpenter was Detroit's eighth draft choice in 1953. He led the Lions in rushing in 1954 and '55, before entering the service for a year. Then he was traded to the Cleveland Browns.

He became one of Lombardi's first "steals" in the coach's first year in Green Bay. He and Bill Quinlan, traded last winter, were obtained by Billy Howton.

In limited action this year, the 30-year-old Carpenter has carried twice for eight yards, caught one pass for 12 yards and returned two kickoffs for 44 yards. Now he's ready to try his hand at passing if it becomes necessary.

Starr was among the onlookers as Roach and Carpenter worked at his spot Wednesday. However, the veteran quarterback didn't stand still. With his hand protected by a splint, he took part in some limbering up exercises and then ran up and noticeable drop in highway fat-down the sidelines.

Badgers Map Plans to Stop Paul Warfield

Speedy Ohio State Back to Cover Jones Saturday

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin expects Ohio State to use its usual series of ground power plays in Saturday's Big Ten meeting, but the Badgers are spending considerable time this week in mapping ways to stop the Buckeyes' Paul Warfield.

"Warfield is the best ball carrier, the best receiver and the best defensive back at Ohio State," warns Wisconsin assistant coach Fred Marsh.

"When pro scouts come around, we always talk about Warfield as being one of the top pro prospects in the conference," Marsh adds.

The Badgers know all about Warfield's ability. He did a tremendous job in covering All-America end Pat Richter last year as the Buckeyes handed Wisconsin its only regular season defeat at Columbus.

Now Ohio State has sent word that Warfield again will be assigned Wisconsin's top receiver, junior college transfer Jimmy Jones.

Get Job Done

"We figure Warfield can play any receiver one-on-one and get the job done," said Buckeye publicist Billy Snapp. "That helps because we won't have to put two men on Jones, like Iowa did, and be light in some other spot."

A speedster, Warfield also must be guarded carefully when Ohio State is on the attack. He is an outstanding runner to the outside and is a threat to go all the way whenever he has the ball.

Warfield was used at fullback last week against Southern California because of Buckeye injuries, but is expected to return to halfback for the Badgers. At his regular spot, he will have to be watched carefully to halt his explosive running and brilliant pass receiving.

Unbeaten Browns Take Big Lead in Rushing

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleveland and Green Bay, the only teams in the National Football League with more yards gained on the ground than through the air, appear to be proving that the old foot soldiers still are an important part of the pro sport.

The unbeaten Browns, led by Jimmy Brown's 931 yards, have rolled up 1,260 yards by rushing. They have passed for 1,216 yards. Their total offense of 2,476 yards and their rushing of 2,476 yards are tops in the NFL.

St. Louis shows the way in pass offense with 1,458 yards. Green Bay, tied for first in the Western Conference with a 5-1 record, is second behind Cleveland in rushing with 1,041 yards. Jimmy Taylor with 391 and Tom Moore with 359 are the big guns in Vince Lombardi's ground game.

Six Games

Although Detroit has been having its troubles on offense, the Lions show the way in total defense with 1,404 yards yielded and in passing defense with 619 yards. Green Bay is first in rushing defense, giving up only 494 yards.

Determined to rack up their third consecutive Fox Valley Catholic Conference football championship and 30th successive gridiron victory, the Xavier High School Hawks travel to De Pere to meet Abbot Penningtons at Minahan Stadium Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m.

With a victory, the Hawks will be assured of the title since co-runnerup Premontre and Marinette both have suffered one setback and also have tie games on their record. Hence, if Xavier wins Saturday and even should drop its last game at Marinette, the Hawks still would have the best mark.

The rest of the league swings into action Friday with three night games on tap.

Improving Oshkosh Lourdes will be at St. Mary Menasha in what shapes up as a close battle. Little Chute St. John travels to Springs and upstomped Marinette will be at Premontre.

Lourdes has pushed up to fifth place in the league standings following victories over Pennings and St. John with a loss to Xavier sandwiched between.

St. Mary came through with a 0-0 tie against highly rated Premontre last week. The Zephyrs have a 2-1 record and need a victory to remain in the first division. Defensively, the Zephyrs ranks as one of the best teams in the league having allowed only 39 points in five games. However, the St. Mary offense has failed to get into high gear and Coach Jack Wipich is hoping it may break loose against the Knights.

St. John has lost three in a row after a victory over Marinette and Coach Bill Fitzpatrick has been working the offense overtime to prepare for Springs. The Ledgers of Fond du Lac are still seeking their initial win of the campaign. Neither team

Steelers' Michaels Suffering From Penicillin Allergy

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Place-kicking star Lou Michaels of the Pittsburgh Steelers was told Wednesday to stay away from practice the next two days because of an allergy on his hands and feet.

A spokesman for the National Football League team said Michaels has developed a reaction to a penicillin shot he received last week. Doctors hope the allergy will clear up with a couple of days rest.

Michaels has scored 57 points on field goals and extra points and is second to Jimmy Brown in the league's scoring race. Brown has 66 points.

The Steelers play Dallas here next Sunday. The spokesman said Tom Tracy probably would do the kicking if Michaels can't play.

FVL Closes Season, Eyes Seventh Home Win in Row

Foxes Meet Sevastopol Here Saturday

BY JOHN PAUSTIAN

Post-Crescent Society Editor

The Fox Valley Lutheran High School Foxes, who have won 11 of their last 14 games, will put their exciting brand of football on display Saturday for the final

At 1:30 p.m. Saturday on the FVL field, the Foxes will meet the Sevastopol Pioneers, of the Peninsula Conference.

FVL, which has won three straight and five of six since an opening game, 13-6, loss to Weyauwega, will be seeking its seventh consecutive home victory in two seasons.

The Foxes will be relying principally on their running game, although their passing has been perking up of late and has accounted for four of their 16 touchdowns. FVL has scored its seven foes by a 2 to 1 margin (10 points to 55).

Fox Lutheran has played 700 ball (21 wins and only nine losses) under the guidance of Coach Dave Umms in the last four seasons.

Sevastopol, which will meet FVL for the first time, has been playing about 500 ball this season under Coach Gene Waterstreet. Earlier this year, Sevastopol met Winneconne and bowed, 28-6.

Leads Scorers

Jack Wolselgel, leading FVL scorer, will be among the seniors rounding out their prep grid careers. The hard-running Wolselgel, the Foxes' leading ground gainer in a 6-1 season last year, has scored 47 points—on seven touchdowns and five extra points.

Quarterback Jack Krueger and halfback Wayne Koenig are the other starting senior backs. Koenig is tied for second in Foxes scoring, at 18 points, with Mark Dahlke. Krueger has tallied three PATs.

The fourth backfield starter is junior Gary Buss, who was transferred to halfback from a guard spot.

Junior quarterback Lee Kiepe, the best passer on the team, has been spelling Krueger in recent games and has looked good. Umms reports. Kiepe has scored one touchdown.

John Mueller has scored Fox Lutheran's remaining touchdowns.

Umms is pleased with the work of his blockers and runners in recent games, because they've enabled FVL to come up with long gainers that have set up TDs. This year's team isn't quite as consistent as last year's (which posted the best record in school history), but it's more exciting because of its unpredictability, in Umms' opinion.

AHS Plays Saturday

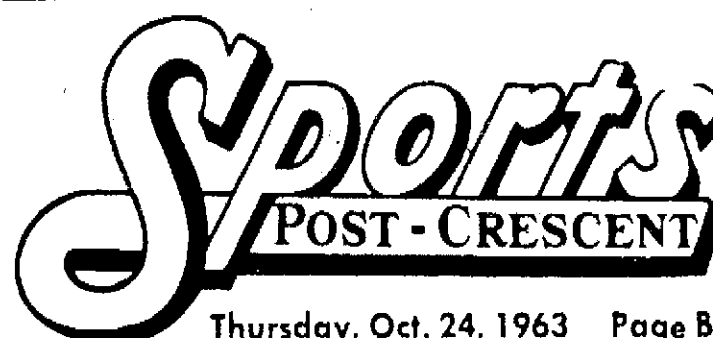

The Appleton High School Green Bay West football game will be played at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, rather than Friday as erroneously reported in Wednesday's Post-Crescent. The game will be played at Goodland Field.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Coach Wally Lemm saw the breaks desert his

St. Louis Cardinals in a 30-7 loss to Green Bay last Sunday, but he hasn't given up hope of catching the powerful Cleveland Browns in the Eastern Division of the National Football League.

The surprising Cardinals, tied for second place with New York at 4-2 and two games behind Cleveland, meet the Redskins Sunday in Washington.

The big job Sunday will be to stop Bobby Mitchell.

While Lemm was talking about the Washington game, he didn't mention a clash of words between him and Green Bay Packer Coach Vince Lombardi concerning Packer fullback Jim Taylor.

Lemm had accused Taylor of unnecessary crawling after he was tackled during the Cardinal go."

It's Official - Berra Named Yank Manager

1-Year Pact Was Signed Week Ago, Says Topping

BY JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Yogi Berra was named manager of the New York Yankees Thursday, confirming reports that had been widespread since Ralph Houk was promoted to general manager two days ago.

Dan Topping, co-owner of the Yankees, made the announcement, saying Berra had been signed a week ago and that the contract was for one-year at Berra's request.

Topping said Berra's salary would be less than he received this year as a player-coach—reportedly $45,000—and added that Yogi would no longer be an active player.

Appointment of the 38-year-old former catcher was announced at a large scale press conference. It had been common knowledge that Berra was the choice from the minute Houk was promoted on Tuesday after leading the Yankees to three American League pennants and two World Series championships in his three years as manager. Houk succeeded Roy Hamey, who resigned because of ill health.

Berra, one of the most popular players in baseball and the top home run hitting catcher in major league history, takes over the managerial spot after a 17-year career with the Yankees.

This past season, Berra served his first year as coach, and also was a part-time player. His estimated salary for 1963 was $45,000.

Has 3 Sons

A native of St. Louis, he now lives with his wife, Carmen, and three sons in Montclair, N.J.

An outstanding catcher and batter, Berra won the league's Most Valuable Player award three times—in 1951, '54 and '55. He compiled a .285 lifetime batting average.

Viking Frosh Meet Ripon This Afternoon

Coach Gene Davis' Lawrence College freshman football team, without the services of three backs, tangles with Ripon at 3 p.m. today at Whiting Field.

Halfback Andy Hoel and fullback Marty Bridges will both miss the game. In addition, quarterback Bob Pelc is not expected to be ready and several others may see only part time action. All were injured in the Beloit game two weeks ago.

Rich Agness is the likely starter for the Vikes at quarterback, although Bruce Elliot a late-comer to the squad is certain to see action at that spot.

The young Vikes are short of linemen this year and will have few replacements for the guard and tackle positions. But Dave Poteet, Doug Giffin, Bill Benowitz, Bob Bletzinger, John Williams, Art Smith, Kit Vernon, and Peter Nash will fill those positions.

The backfield has been bolstered by the addition of Jerry Gatzke, a 200-pound fullback, who was injured in early practices and missed the Beloit game. Craig Campbell, Dave Crowell, Barry Garley and Winsor Whiton are the halfbacks.

WSSC Leaders Settle Race in Two Key Duels

Eau Claire Meets
Superior and Point
Duels Whitewater

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Wisconsin State College Conference football championship may be decided Saturday with the four teams still in contention set to settle the issue among themselves in two key duels.

Undeclared Eau Claire, which has won five straight in league play and six in a row overall, can capture the title on its home grounds in a meeting with rugged Superior, owner of a 4-1 SCC record.

Stevens Point, which suffered its first loss in six outings meets Whitewater, winner of four of five starts.

Eau Claire, Superior and Stevens Point will wind up conference play for the year. Whitewater has one game left with winless La Crosse Nov. 2.

Win Streak

Eau Claire needs only to extend its winning streak to win the title. Stevens Point can take top honors if it defeats Whitewater and Eau Claire loses. Whitewater bases its hopes on a pair of victories and an Eau Claire loss, while Superior could gain a tie for the title depending on the outcome of other games.

In other SCC games, River Falls, 3-3, is at La Crosse, 0-5. Platteville, 2-3, travels to University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and Stout, 2-4, plays at Oshkosh, 0-5-1.

Wisconsin's two other undefeated, untied small colleges, Ripon and St. Norbert, are favored to sweep to their sixth victories. Ripon meets St. Olaf, which has a 3-2 Midwest Conference record, while St. Norbert travels to Sioux City, Iowa, for a non-league game with Morningside.

In other Midwest Conference action, Beloit, all even with a 2-2 record, is at home against Cornell, 4-1, and Monmouth, loser of five straight, plays Lawrence at Appleton. Lawrence has a 1-4 record in league play.

They'll Do It Every Time

Liska Predicts Victories for Wisconsin, Michigan State

BY JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — Ye Olde Midwest Football Seer, picking 7-7 Saturday, approaches the coming weekend as eagerly as a famished fox in a crowded chicken coop.

With a season mark of 769 on a 20-6 pace, we'll let the feathers fly this way.

Wisconsin 19, Ohio State 13—Stung by that 32-3 pasting from Southern California, Ohio State will be hard to handle. However, the game is at Madison, Wis., and the Bucks again will miss those 80,000 cheering Columbus, Ohio, voices. Wisconsin's able Badgers got over the hump at Iowa, and even lack the scent of roses, they'll be sniffing hard for revenge.

The Badgers have beaten Ohio State only once in 12 tilts with a Woody Hayes-coached club. Michigan State 14, Northwestern 13—A slight upset here because Northwestern's sharp-shooting Tommy Myers, already well-defended by Illinois and Minnesota, runs into the Big Ten's No. 1 defensive club. Also, NU's Wildcats haven't perked their own running and have had trouble with good rival runners. Michigan State has some fine ramblers in Sherm Lewis, Dewey Lincoln and Ron Rubick.

Minnesota 14, Michigan 7—Throw out the form sheet in this Little Brown Jug rivalry. Minnesota lost to Illinois the same way the Gophers beat Army—on fumbles. The Gophers lack any passer to compare with Purdue's Ron DiGravio, but return of halfback Dick Harren and linebacker Paul Faust stiffens them for the unpredictable Wolverines.

U. S. Expects Easy Victory Over India

McKinley, Froehling
Head 4-Man Team to Play Next Month

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Chuck McKinley and Frank Froehling head the Davis Cup team that the United States confidently expects to sweep aside India for the right to meet Australia for the coveted amateur tennis trophy.

McKinley, of San Antonio, Tex., and Froehling, of Coral Gables, Fla., along with Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Marty Reissen, of Evanston, Ill., were named Wednesday to oppose India in the inter-zone final early next month. The winner meets the defending champion, Australia, in the challenge round at Brisbane during Christmas week.

McKinley and Froehling starred in America's recent 5-0 rout of Great Britain, the European champion.

Bob Kelleher, the U.S. non-playing captain from Los Angeles, announced the make-up of the team after a strenuous workout to help accustom the Americans to Bombay's humid weather.

Kramanathan Krishnan, star of the India team reported fully recovered from a sprained back muscle, "is our only worry," Kelleher said. "He can give us plenty of trouble if he is at the top of his game."

proving of late. Out for the game is goalie Don Cass who has a broken thumb. Lawrence Wilson and Ed Karland also are on the injury list.

Jim Lynum has filled in for Cass at goalie and has looked good. Other top players for the team will make its fourth start, Vikes include defensemen Clem Herschel, and Ed Decker and today when it tangles with Ripon wings Luke Ajene of Nigeria at the Institute of Paper Chemists.

So far this season the Vikes have tied Oshkosh State, 3-3; lost to Carleton, 2-1, and lost to a strong Lake Forest team, 5-1.

Pioneer League Apparently Dies After 25 Years

Sufficient Working Agreements Not
Available for 1964

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The Class A Pioneer League died suddenly Wednesday. It was 25. But many of the baseball league's patrons and supporters refuse to schedule funeral services in hopes it will be born anew.

Death was attributed to a long financial illness.

Claude Engberg, league president, released a brief certificate of death.

"The Pioneer League was advised Wednesday by the National Association office that sufficient working agreements will not be available for the operation of the league in 1964.

"The league will determine in the near future whether to disband or suspend operation for a period of one year with the possibility of reactivating for a 1965 operation."

"This is our obituary, Engberg added.

Pinpoint Cause

He pinpointed the cause of death saving it was a product of high bonuses.

"The major league clubs are spending as much as they ever did, but in recent years it went to bonuses," said Engberg.

"They don't have the players to man the minor leagues."

All but one of the six Pioneer League teams suffered from dwindling attendance. And the league lost three major league working agreements this fall—at Boise, Idaho which quit; Pocatello, Idaho, and Billings, Mont.

Engberg said the other teams, Idaho Falls and Twin Falls, Idaho, and Great Falls, Mont., were in fair financial shape.

Lemaster NL's 'Gopher Ball' King With 30 Serves

NEW YORK (AP)—Denny Lemaster, the Milwaukee Braves' southpaw strikeout artist, is the National League's 1963 "gopher ball" king.

Lemaster received the dubious distinction by serving up 30 home runs, two more than Roger Craig of the New York Mets and three more than Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants.

Lemaster appeared in 237 innings in 45 games. He finished his sophomore year with the Braves with an 11-14 record and an earned run average of 3.04, with 38 gopher pitches, with 190 strikeouts.

Teammate Warren Spahn, who had a brilliant 23-7 record was among the National League leaders in home run pitches, serving up 23.

Detroit right-hander Jim Bunning led the American League with 38 gopher pitchers, with former National Leaguer Robin Roberts of the Baltimore Orioles was second with 35.

BY JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — Ye Olde Midwest Football Seer, picking 7-7 Saturday, approaches the coming weekend as eagerly as a famished fox in a crowded chicken coop.

With a season mark of 769 on a 20-6 pace, we'll let the feathers fly this way.

Wisconsin 19, Ohio State 13—Stung by that 32-3 pasting from Southern California, Ohio State will be hard to handle. However, the game is at Madison, Wis., and the Bucks again will miss those 80,000 cheering Columbus, Ohio, voices. Wisconsin's able Badgers got over the hump at Iowa, and even lack the scent of roses, they'll be sniffing hard for revenge.

The Badgers have beaten Ohio State only once in 12 tilts with a Woody Hayes-coached club. Michigan State 14, Northwestern 13—A slight upset here because Northwestern's sharp-shooting Tommy Myers, already well-defended by Illinois and Minnesota, runs into the Big Ten's No. 1 defensive club. Also, NU's Wildcats haven't perked their own running and have had trouble with good rival runners. Michigan State has some fine ramblers in Sherm Lewis, Dewey Lincoln and Ron Rubick.

Minnesota 14, Michigan 7—Throw out the form sheet in this Little Brown Jug rivalry. Minnesota lost to Illinois the same way the Gophers beat Army—on fumbles. The Gophers lack any passer to compare with Purdue's Ron DiGravio, but return of halfback Dick Harren and linebacker Paul Faust stiffens them for the unpredictable Wolverines.

Iowa 13, Purdue 7—The host Boiler-makers are tabbed the favorites.

Michigan State leads in defense, team statistics showed today.

The Badgers, who meet Ohio State Saturday, lead in these categories (average a game): Points scored—24; net yards gained—332; yards each play—5.3; passes completed—14.5; completion percentage—55.8.

MSU's defenses, which test Northwestern next, have these top conference accomplishments: Opponents' net yards (average)—114; by rushing—56.5; by passing—57.5; opponent points scored—5; number of opponent plays—54; yards a play—2.1; by rushing—1.5; by passing—3.3.

Other team leaders include: First downs—Purdue 21.5; rushing yards—Ohio State, 171.5; passing yards—Northwestern, 202; yards rushing each play—OSU, 3.7; passing—Northwestern, 8; passes attempted—Iowa, 31; completed—Wisconsin, 14.5; fumbles lost—Minnesota—2.5.

Individual leaders include: Rushing—Tom Nowatzke, Indiana, 227 yards in 54 carries; passing—Ron DiGravio, Purdue—26 hits out of 47 for 350 yards, 2 touchdowns and no interceptions; total offense—Tom Myers, Northwestern, minus 45 rushing and 606 passing for 561; pass receiving—Bill Malinchak, Indiana, 12 for 173 and 2 touchdowns.

Kickoff returns—Trent Walters, Indiana, 7 for 23.3 average; punting—Merlin Norenberg, Northwestern, 7 for 53.4 average; punt returns—Jim Warren, Illinois, 7 for 12.6; interceptions—Dick McCauley, Northwestern, 3 for 26 yards.

Football player Ken Woods, 16, took the ball in a pickup game and broke into the clear, heading for a touchdown.

The disablement of Bart Starr and the unpredictability of climactic prep conference games represent enough dark clouds possibly to obscure this forecaster's blue sky for this week.

Packers over Colts — This has to be our most hesitant Packer "nod" of the year. Even with Starr, the Bays were bombed in Baltimore's "mad, mad stadium" two years ago and barely got out with a victory in '62. How the offense will move with John Roach at the throttle is, of course, a mystery. There may be only one Starr, but the Packers still have enough stars to get the job done — and there's a feeling that the others will all be giving a little bit extra to make Roach's starting debut a success.

Wisconsin over Ohio State — The Woody Hayes-lashed Buckeyes will be in a ferocious mood after last week's debacle, but the Badgers haven't forgotten last year's loss nor all the past improprieties dealt them by the Bucks. Besides, the UW is due for another Purdue game-type performance after last Saturday's close call.

Lawrence over Monmouth — The Vikes still have an outside chance to finish with a .500 season, and the homecoming atmosphere will help spur them on to this first of three needed wins.

Xavier over Pennings — This will be the clincher as the power-winged Hawks swoop in for their third successive title.

Appleton over West — This is the year for tradition-smashing in the FRVC. The explosive Terror machine will help AHS forget some of its past frustrations against the Wildcats.

Fox Lutheran over Sevastopol — The Foxes haven't lost in Appleton for a long time, and their current momentum seems to be sufficient to drive them past a rugged foe.

Neenah over Kimberly — The stakes are high in what promises to be a booming battle. Both teams have sharp aerial attack and dangerous runners. The Rocket defense has been tight in every game but one (a 19-0 loss to Shawano), and that could swing the balance in Neenah's favor.

Kaukauna over Two Rivers — The Ghosts, who haven't lost since their conference opener (against New London), figure to move consistently against the Raiders.

Shawano over Menasha — The Jays have come a long way since the start of the season, but the Indians will be bristling after final-minute loss to Clintonville.

Clintonville over New London — The Truckers have a little too much power for the battling Bulldogs.

Lourdes over St. Mary — This looms as a practical toss-up between a pair of much-improved teams. The Knights' ground attack appears to be a bit stronger.

St. John over St. Mary Springs — The Dutchmen have a better all-around offense than the Ledgers, who have only a fair passing attack.

Other FRVC Games — North over East, Manitowoc over Fond du Lac, South over Oshkosh.

Other MC Games — Grinnell over Coe, Cornell over Beloit, Carleton over Knox, Ripon over St. Olaf.

Other Games — Wittenberg over Manawa, Weyauwega over Waupaca, Iola-Scandinavia over Marion, Bondel over Wautoma, Chilton over Elkhart Lake, Kohler over Brillion, Denmark over Hilbert, Winneconne over Shiocton, Freedom over Reedsville, Omro over Hortonville, Premontre over Marinette.

Eagles Hope to Bolster QB Corps by Adding Guglielmi

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Eagles hope to bolster their quarterback corps by picking up Ralph Guglielmi on waivers, according to officials of the National Football League team.

The Eagles may need an extra quarterback in their game Sunday with the Chicago Bears. Regular quarterback Sonny Jurgensen will miss that game, maybe more, with a shoulder injury. King Hill, the No. 2 quarterback may need relief—hence the interest in Guglielmi.

"I talked to Guglielmi by phone in Washington," said General Manager Vince McNally Wednesday, "and told him he'll be our property if the waivers aren't withdrawn in the next 24 hours. Now it's up to me to sign him."

Seven Years Guglielmi, a former Notre Dame star with seven years pro experience, recently was sold by the New York Giants to the San Francisco 49ers. He declined to report to the 49ers, saying he didn't want to be away from his insurance business in Washington.

The Giants put him on their reserve list, but then put him on waivers again Tuesday. The Green Bay Packers, and Bears also are reportedly interested in Guglielmi, but the Eagles have first chance at him because they are lower in the standings.

Guglielmi needs only one more game to qualify for the National Football League's pension, and officials here indicated this may be a factor in signing him.

Bowling Tips

BY DON CARTER AND MARION LADEWIG

Ball Doesn't Back Up
How frustrating it is to hear someone shout, "Your ball is backing up!" After all, you can see quite plainly that it is not really backing up — what do they mean?

In the language of bowling, a back-up is a ball that (for a right-hander) curves from left to right. It is a poor ball to throw, for it brings fewer strikes than a straight ball or hook.

Mira Takes U. S. Passing Leadership

Navy's Staubach Continues First In Total Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — When Georgia's Larry Rakestraw and Miami's George Mira engaged in their record passing duel last Friday, they shook up the national collegiate individual offense statistics as well as the spectators.

Rakestraw won the duel with 407 yards to Mira's 342 and Georgia won the game 31-14, but Mira emerged as the nation's No. 1 college passer, statistically, with 72 completions on 140 attempts.

Rakestraw's individual advance was even more impressive. He jumped from 19th to fourth place in the total offense tabulations issued Tuesday by the NCAA Service Bureau. His 941 yards put him in a tight battle for the runner-up spot behind Navy's Roger Staubach.

The 749 passing yards netted by Rakestraw and Mira set a NCAA one-game record, whipping out the 716-yard mark by Detroit-Duquesne in 1950. Their 50 completions — 25 each — also was a record, and Rakestraw's 407 yards broke the record of 401 set by Stanford's Dick Norman in 1959.

Clings to Lead Although VMI managed to contain Staubach's passing, the Navy quarterback accounted for 147 yards and clung to his total offense lead with a 1,171-yard total. He dropped to third in passing behind Mira and Don Trull of Baylor, the defending champion.

A new rushing leader also turned up when Tony Loric of Arizona State ran 176 yards on 21 carries against Texas Western and moved from seventh place to first. He now has 513 yards to 494 for Jimmy Sidle, Auburn's run-minded quarterback. Jon Kilgore of Auburn retained his punting lead with a 45.9-yard average.

An interesting total offense race developed behind Staubach. Tom Myers of Northwestern, who has thrown for 1,018 yards but has been thrown often enough to reduce his total gains, to 950, is second. Then comes Trull with 942 yards, Rakestraw with 941, Mira with 940 and Sidle with 922.

GSA Releases Part of Bong Base for Wildlife Refuge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. acres which the federal government still owns. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said to Nelson, in a letter to members of the Wisconsin Conservation Administration (GSA) had agreed to release 1,986 acres of the abandoned Bong Air Force base in southeastern Wisconsin to the state for use as a wildlife refuge without charge to Wisconsin.

The GSA previously had asked $35,000 from Wisconsin for 490 acres of the 1,986 acre area, but has now agreed to drop its request for this amount. In addition to the 1,986 acre tract, the Wisconsin Conservation Commission has agreed to buy 1,591 acres of the base for $244,995 and has paid a deposit of $5,000.

The base covered 5,556 acres. After spending $20 million in developing it the Air Force abandoned the base in 1959 and gave Wisconsin the first opportunity to take it over. It has not been determined what will be done with the approximately 2,000

Haynes Is Lost To Chiefs With Kidney Ailment

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Starting back Abner Haynes has been hospitalized with a kidney ailment and won't accompany the Kansas City Chiefs to Houston for Sunday's American Football League game. Coach Hank Stramm said Wednesday.

Neither will field goal specialist Tommy Brooker, who may be lost for the season with a torn ligament in his right leg suffered last Sunday against San Diego. Stramm said it was Brooker's field goal in the second overtime that beat the Oilers in the 1962 AFL championship game.

With Haynes out indefinitely, the Chiefs may activate Bert Coan, the former University of Kansas star, who was purchased from the Chargers early this month and has been working out with Kansas City.

Lawrence Says

Senator Wants
An Early Look
At New Budget

Byrd Wants Figures
In Conjunction With Tax Reduction Bill

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, Democrat, who is chairman of the senate finance committee, has a simple suggestion which could clarify the question of whether the proposed tax reduction bill ought to be passed in time to take effect on January 1, 1964, or be deferred. The Virginia senator told this correspondent it would be only fair to all concerned for the president to let congress have a look at the coming federal budget early in December instead of on January 10 next.

This would give the American people and their representatives in congress an opportunity to judge whether the tax cut is worth the risks entailed. Byrd points out, for instance, that only twice before in more than a hundred years have there been three consecutive years of deficits during peacetime and never before in American history a "planned" deficit as distinguished from a deficit arising from unforeseen circumstances. The president's plan calls for at least five consecutive years of budget deficits.

Unexpended Balances
Most disconcerting of all the factors involved, moreover, is the anticipated presence of $95 billion of unexpended balances as of June 30, 1964. At least $39 billion of this sum will not have been committed by contracts or loans or otherwise, and payments could be deferred to later years. Certainly, argues Senator Byrd, somewhere in that $95 billion the executive departments of the government could find enough cash to eliminate the deficit of $9 billion which is planned for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1964.

As far back as March 27, Senator Byrd said "Congress could rescind balances; and I think it should in many cases. It could enact an annual expenditure limitation on each appropriation account; I think it should, and senate concurrent resolution 12, now pending before the rules committee, would provide for this."

Probable Reductions
Most members of congress have no way of knowing now whether the expenditures for which the money was originally appropriated could, upon re-examination, be reduced. But congress is entitled to the information. Take, for instance, the fact that for the current fiscal year—ends June 30 next—combined locks, was asked for $4.9 billion for "foreign aid," though less driving. A car Pohlman there already were "available" was operating became involved from previous years unexpended in a property damage accident, Oct. 6 at State 114 and County.

Fined $25 for driving too fast, There are plenty of other conditions was James M. Calaway, 24, route 2, DePere. His arrest by county police resulted from an accident Sept. 22 on State 114-55.

Hortonville Teachers Meet, Hear Talk by State Coordinator

HORTONVILLE—An in-service meeting for all Hortonville community school instructors was held at the Hortonville High School Wednesday.

Mr. Harry H. Joyce, acting executive secretary of the Wisconsin State Teachers Retirement Board, Madison, spoke to the group on the retirement program.

Dr. Kosinski, curriculum project coordinator, Wisconsin language arts curriculum, State Department of Public Instruction discussed the language arts program from kindergarten through 12th grades.

The Hortonville Education Association met at 4:00 p.m. to hear the report on the program for American Education Week and chairmen gave their reports of committee meetings.

The board of education of the Hortonville Community Schools attended the Wisconsin Association of School Boards area meeting at Kimberly last week.

Kaukauna Heart Fund
Drive Head Named

John M. Wall, Route 3, Kaukauna, will head the 1964 Heart Fund campaign in Kaukauna, according to Robert L. Bittner, Green Bay, state chairman. Bittner said Wall will appoint division chairmen to assist him with local campaign plans.

Wall, manager of labor relations at the Thilmany Pulp & Paper Co., was a volunteer worker while in Grand Rapids, Michigan. He is a member of the Rotary club.

The 1964 campaign goal for the Kaukauna area has been set at $1,983. That goal for Wisconsin is $616,000. The Wisconsin Heart Association reported that half of every Heart dollar is used for research. The remainder is used for the Heart Association's programs of community service and education.

Wall stressed that the February campaign will help "provide the means to fight our Number One health enemy, disease of the heart and blood vessels that take more lives each year than any other causes of death combined."

Order Banning Fires in Hortonville in Effect Today

HORTONVILLE — It is illegal to burn leaves or rubbish on or near sidewalks or streets here as of today.

An ordinance adopted recently by the village board, prohibits burning in or within one foot of any sidewalk, street, curb or gutter. Any person violating the ordinance will be subject to a fine of not more than $10.

Building permits were granted to Rock Moder, 603 S. Nash St. and Paul Steinert, 331 E. Main St. Both permits were for the construction of garages. A third application by William Carmody was held up for clarification whether or not he would connect to the village sewer.

A motion to petition Outagamie county for equipment to widen the curve on North Nash Street was also approved.

Village President Raymond Warner and the board commended the street commissioner and his men for the storm sewer construction work done on W. Nye Street at a cost of $4,171, a substantial savings over earlier engineer estimates.

Warner also appointed Joseph Keller to the Library Board in place of Leonard Buchman.

The board authorized Police Chief Douglas Jones and his assistants to attend a one day FBI school at Oshkosh.

Many Barriers Between U. S. and Soviet Trade

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Let's be completely realistic up towering emotional walls about the practical dollars-and-against trading during the cold war, so has Russia built up towers of economic dependence on non-Communist nations is traditional and deeply entrenched.

The obstacles to a great expansion from today's near-zero levels are enormous.

Porter

First, this trade must be a two-way affair if it is to be sustained at a high level, for the simple reason that Russia and her satellites cannot buy from us and pay in dollars for their purchases unless they can sell to us and earn dollars as well.

Of course, the Soviet can sell exports of only $15.2 million to gold as they already have been doing to get the dollars to pay 1962. It would compare with U. S. exports of only $109.8 million on the sales. Russia's gold to the satellites — and $94.4 million in the world's markets — surplus farm commodities to Poland at the start but they cannot land under a special exemption keep the machinery going indefinitely.

Simple Reality

In the face of this simple reality about trade the fact is that the Soviet countries would gobble up huge amounts of our incomes and profits here. The products if they could get them, dollars we would earn would we want comparatively little slash the deficit in our balance book from them.

Based on pre-World War II trade patterns, an informed estimate would bolster our economy at a time that the USSR and the satellites want two and one-half times as much from us as we.

Moreover, total Communist want from them. And this goes purchases of $2 billion a year even if we vastly increase our from Western Europe easily purchases from the Soviet bloc could double in the next five of undressed furs, meat and years," says the Russian expert meat products, wool, glass and who asked to remain unidentified-glass products, platinum, palladium because of his sensitive podium, rhodium, bicycles, books, station in Washington. "Thus, export, hemp, etc., etc.

Trade Benefits

It would mean a quadrupling of our 1962 exports to the Soviet Union. The trade unquestionably would add to employment, income and profits here.

The commerce treaty would bolster our economy at a time that the USSR and the satellites want two and one-half times as much from us as we.

Moreover, total Communist want from them. And this goes purchases of $2 billion a year even if we vastly increase our from Western Europe easily purchases from the Soviet bloc could double in the next five of undressed furs, meat and years," says the Russian expert meat products, wool, glass and who asked to remain unidentified-glass products, platinum, palladium because of his sensitive podium, rhodium, bicycles, books, station in Washington. "Thus, export, hemp, etc., etc.

expansion in the U. S. share of Second, just as we have built the market would not have to be at Europe's expense. And surely will go on to sales of the totals would grow in the future with the growth of the Soviet countries.

Other Purchases

Any guess on what's to come in the sphere of East-West trade can only be wild at this stage but my guess is that the wheat sale is not just a one-shot deal. Sales of other surplus commodities — ranging from corn to oats — seem probable. As these sales are made, windfall funds will flow back to the Treasury, along, both of us have kept the costs of storing the surplus commodities will decline, our farmers will get a boost.

What other things might Russia

We did, it should be underlined, sell the Soviet bloc $7.6 million of machinery and transportation equipment in 1962. $4 million of chemicals, $2.1 million of manufactured goods. All trade door a tiny bit open and now finally, both of us are at least peeking inside.

Man Charged In Robbery, Bail Set

WAUPACA — James N. Thirion, 21, Colonial Hotel. Waupaca, was ordered held for County Court on a charge of robbery Monday when he was taken before Municipal Justice George Whalen.

Bail was set at $2,500. No date was set for the trial.

Thirion was arrested by city police early Friday morning when he was identified by Mrs. Anne Hentzner, 722 Bartlett St., who said he took her wallet and car keys while she was doing her laundry at the Normington Coin Laundry.

Thirion admitted taking the purse and keys from Mrs. Hentzner's purse and later Friday morning led police to where he threw them away near the Normington building.

Home May Confer With President

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Lord Home may meet President Kennedy before the end of the year, diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

A spokesman from the prime minister's office said: "The prime minister saw President Kennedy only 15 days ago. At the moment no arrangements for such a meeting exist but relations between Britain and the United States being what they are, these could easily be made."

Diplomats said Home was planning a number of personal contacts with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany in the near future, and with President Charles De Gaulle of France sometime in the new year.

Troops in Europe Pose U.S. Problem

Pentagon Says No Immediate Reduction in Overseas Force

BY ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP) — The question does not seem to be whether the United States will reduce its combat forces in Europe, but how soon it will be done.
The State Department is concerned over a recent speech by a top ranking Pentagon official which dealt, among other things, with "evolutionary changes" ahead for units de-years has already been committed for other projects—the University, state colleges, welfare department and other agencies.

Roger Schrantz, executive secretary of the State Building Commission, confirmed the Peterson assessment and said it is possible that the commission will consider the $10,000,000 money-raising problem at its meeting here Saturday.

May Be No Objection

There is likely to be no objection, in the commission or in the Legislature, to the merits of the proposal which have already been endorsed in a unanimous vote of the University regents. The commission has two Milwaukee area legislators as members who are committed to the need for physical expansion of the UW-M campus to accommodate its swift enrollment growth and to avoid the need for costly and time-consuming condemnation of neighborhood residential properties. The Legislature will return to session here Nov. 4.

With the backing of the building commission and the regents, legislative authorization of total bond issues for the next two years beyond the $87,000,000 already approved is generally expected.

Oregon Governor Says Government Generally Better

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Oregon's Gov. Mark O. Hatfield says "we are all married to the politician, and our governmental in-laws will live with us all the days of our lives."
Hatfield, addressing Occidental College students, said that despite the public's low opinion of politics and politicians, "government in the United States is generally better than we, as citizens, deserve."
Hatfield remarked that people, in writing to him, use such terms as "inefficient, dirty, graft-ridden, stupid, grasping, dictatorial, traitorous, lying and incompetent."
This attitude, he continued, has become a "folklore of democracy." He said many Americans mistakenly believe that government "is expected to be, at best, inadequate."

Bi-Racial Leadership Training Is Planned

The program will be open later to persons interested in the racial field even though they do not have Peace Corps experience. The project was announced by

To Choose Studies Six Midshipmen Freed Of Work in Classroom

BY HERB THOMPSON
ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Six Naval Academy midshipmen have been freed of regular classroom work this year to concentrate on research and studies of their own choosing. They are known as "Trident scholars," the first participants in a scholarship program, the academic program, and thus create a new source of pride for the whole brigade and for the faculty.
Hand-picked for the program from the upper 10 per cent of their class were:
Tennis Player — Clark Graham of Jacksonville, Fla., tennis player and captain of the Navy squash team. He'll do research on factors affecting submarine construction.
Bobby Joe Haynes of Watauga, Tenn., who will study chemical characteristics of a heretofore unreported salt compound.
Barry M. Plott of Scottsdale, Ariz., studying civil-naval relations of Argentina and their effort on government stability.
Fire Control — Jeffrey V. Wilson of Kansas City, Kan., studying concepts of fire control in laser or energy beam weaponry.
Leon P. Brooks Jr. of Jacksonville, Fla., who will do research on radiation effects on transistors.
Melville H. Lyman III of Glen Ridge, N.J., who will conduct research on applied navigation.
The program grew out of a visit to Yale University last spring by Rear Adm. Charles C. Kirkpatrick, academy superintendent, and Capt. Robert W. McNitt, secretary to the academic board.
Kirkpatrick was impressed with Yale's "Scholar of the House" program and decided to try something similar at the Naval Academy.
Each of the Trident scholars works under guidance of a faculty adviser. The program is under supervision of a standing committee from the faculty. A project report or thesis is required of each scholar at the end of the year.
All Seniors must participate in regular brigade activities except for time they would normally devote to classes. All chose to carry some regular classroom work, from 9 to 12 hours, in addition to their special studies.
Three of the scholars are officers in the brigade of midshipmen. Graham is brigade administrative officer. Haynes is a battalion commander. Plott is a battalion subcommander.
McNitt says the emphasis was on choosing men of over-all ability, as well as scholarship quality.

Memories Fading

Evelyn Hartley Missing 10 Years Without Trace

BY JOHN IGLEHART
Associated Press Staff Writer
LA CROSSE (AP) — A blood-stained jacket, a pair of tennis shoes and fading memories of one of the Midwest's greatest manhunters are nearly all that remain today, 10 years after pretty Evelyn Hartley disappeared from a baby-sitting job at the home of a family friend.
Evelyn, the 15-year-old daughter of biology professor Richard T. Hartley, was sitting at the home of Viggo Rasmussen, another La Crosse State College professor, on the night of Oct. 24, 1953.

the thousands, combing every inch for miles around.
Only a few clues ever were found. They included a pair of tennis shoes and a bloodstained denim jacket, spotted in the Coon Valley area southeast of here.
Stains on the lapels, back and arms were of human blood, type A — Evelyn's type. The soles of the tennis shoes matched footprints near the Rasmussen home.
Suspects Queried
Suspects were questioned from time to time. A South Dakota farm worker, a Duluth, Minn., mechanic, a Fond du Lac laborer and a Minnesota steeplejack. But no one ever was arrested.
Nowadays memories have faded, only to be revived when someone connected with the case dies. County Sheriff Ivan Wright died in 1954 and fellow officers blamed his death on overwork — on the Hartley case. In 1959 an 84-year-old retired farmer, who hired a private detective agency to investigate the mystery, died. Howard L. George said when he spent $1,500 in hopes of locating Evelyn, "I want to find out if we have any laws or anything else to go by."

No trace of her ever was found, despite years of unremitting investigation.
Even now, Police Chief George Long says an occasional letter concerning the case comes in, but for Evelyn's parents, who have two other children, it has been a matter of trying to forget.
"I'd rather not try to stir up anything any more," Dr. Hartley said. "I don't see how she could be alive."
The disappearance of Evelyn, an honor student, set off a chain of events that has never been duplicated. It included:
Many Plans
Plans to give lie detector tests to some 1,700 students; the issuance of 40,000 stickers that said, "My car is O.K.," meaning that authorities had checked its trunk and interior; and search parties, numbering in

New Health Plan For Aged Texans

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — When the state-sponsored Texas 65 Insurance Association was recently launched, it announced that all elderly Texans would have a chance to get health insurance regardless of age or health.
This week Eunice Oliver, 102, who lives near Belton, got her policy.
Mrs. Oliver lost her hearing 50 years ago and is almost blind. Her family and friends communicate with her through large plastic letters arranged on a board.
It is the first health policy she has ever owned. After it was explained to her she agreed "it might be good to take out the insurance because I just might get sick one of these days."

An AP News Analysis
played overseas. And it is anxious to get word out that no immediate troop reduction in Europe is planned.
Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected to use the occasion of a visit to West Germany during the next few days to make a formal announcement. It will be aimed at calming alarm in West German government quarters, evidenced by a request for clarification on the speech of Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric in Chicago last Saturday.

Overseas Forces
In that speech, Gilpatric talked about change in the size and type of forces overseas which "lies ahead" and said the current test airlift of 16,000 troops to Europe demonstrates the capability to deploy military power far faster and longer than ever before.

Gilpatric and others have talked publicly and privately on several occasions about improved strategic deployment capabilities, with implications that economics and other factors were pointing to an eventual cut in forces abroad.
But the Saturday speech was almost on the eve of the dramatic Exercise Big Lift demonstration and test. It was followed closely by an Army announcement that atomic arms for ground forces in Europe and elsewhere would be increased—something that suggested there was a way to maintain the same amount of defensive firepower with fewer men.

5 Divisions
There are now five Army divisions and other units amounting to the strength of a sixth division deployed in West Germany. The total manpower of the U.S. ground forces there is about 250,000.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has insisted that no immediate cutback in combat strength in Europe is planned. But he also has decided that some of the non-combat strength can be brought home.

Although the Defense Department has kept secret any plans it has for an eventual trimming down of European combat strength, it is probable such plans exist.

Projected Budget
It should be noted that the Pentagon now keeps current a five-year projected budget, prepared along with each annual budget. The projected budget contains general estimates of

Born in Smyrna

Seferis — pen name for Giorgos Seferiades — was born in Smyrna in then Greek (now Turkish) Asia Minor on Feb. 22, 1900.

In 1914 his family had to flee to Athens. From the end of World War I to 1924 Seferis studied in Paris, and in 1928 joined the Greek diplomatic service.

His first appointment was in London in 1931 — where he was greatly and lastingly influenced by poet T.S. Eliot. He left London only a few months ago, after three years as ambassador to settle in Greece again.

Held Many Posts

Seferis held diplomatic posts in many countries. In World War II he served the free Greek exile government in South Africa, Egypt, Palestine, London and Italy.

In 1944 he returned to Athens on an Allied troop carrier and stayed until 1948 before going on to new diplomatic assignments, the last in London again. He is married.

Seferis made his literary debut in 1931, first became really noticed with "Mythistorema (Myth History)" in 1935 and as the introducer of Eliot in Greece.

Since 1940 he has completed three parts of his great "Odyssey," called the "Log Book." Among his best known poems is "The King of Asina." Other works in later years include "The Wreck of the Do not have Peace Corps experience." The project was announced by

Wausau's Famed 'Cookie Lady' Comes to Town

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

Mrs. A. M. Hoffman of Wausau . . . better known as Bess to her thousands of cookie fans . . . never goes anywhere without at least one batch of homemade cookies as an ever welcome gift. Last week was no exception when she came to visit the homes of her twin sons and their families on Pleasant View Court. Only, instead of the usual generous sampling of her home-baked goodies, she brought with her a staggering 10,000 cookies in 40 different varieties.

The occasion was a special one, of course, and one in which Mrs. Hoffman took part with motherly pride. It was the grand opening of the S. Walter Avenue drug store of her two pharmacist sons, Richard and Ronald Hoffman. But she also remembered her five Appleton grandchildren and assorted friends and brought extra boxes of cookies for them, too.

Cookies have become the trademark of the sparkling, outgoing woman who literally baked her way to authorship and fame by way of her natural friendliness and her cookie jar. She started baking cookies when her children were small, firmly believing that all youngsters should have access to an ever full cookie jar as part of their childhood. Cookies in the Hoffman household were never desserts, but treats by the handful to be deliciously savored at odd moments of the day such as after meals, after school, just before bedtime and always on holidays. This led to an open-door policy so that many a former Wausau youngster remembers Mrs. Hoffman's cookie treats and today she is "treating" a second generation of young fry.

Many are her friends who treasure a collector's item in glass, a vase, bowl, serving tray or apothecary jar that's come their way filled with cookies. Mrs. Hoffman likes people and one of her greatest pleasures is presenting special friends with cookies in a container that is a thoughtful, personal gift in itself. To prove this point, she baked about 20,000 cookies last year for holiday gifts with each package receiving her considered attention.

It was her friends who talked Mrs. Hoffman into publishing her collection of holiday cookie recipes. "Then we won't all the time," they told her, "We can buy the book and keep them handy."

With her businessman husband behind her in the project, she and her teen-age daughter Susan, an ready to lend a helping hand, Mrs. Hoffman began culling her 15-year collection of recipes for the best 200 or so.

The first printing came off the presses in December, 1960. In 11 days the supply was gone. The book had to go into its second printing to fill all the orders. Mrs. Hoffman now has and talking session over coffee groups and department stores. The charm of "Cookies by Bess" is in its simplicity. Few can go a long way in creating offer to help and thus share the recipes are "fussy" ones, all sorts of different cookies for some of the fun of creating them.

Mrs. Hoffman Uses her mother's Spicy Molasses Cookie recipe for the gingerbread men above and the holiday cookies, left, are fashioned from rich Christmas cookie dough.

Another she learned from her grandchildren in Park Forest, Ill., Paula Rae, Robert Earle and Stephen Jay Sherman. This lesson has become a cardinal rule when making her big gingerbread boys, space men or other cookie figures. . . don't decorate cookies for children too carefully, make the frosting outlines and trimmings quickly and imperfectly, more as a child would do them. Then, says the Cookie Lady, the children will

Many are old-fashioned recipes various occasions. Mrs. Hoffman thoroughly enjoys baking and has some definite ideas on it. Many of these hints she teaches in Holiday Baking classes at the Wausau Vocational School every fall. One is that a good basic recipe

Here are a few samples of Bess' holiday and everyday favorites from her book.

Watering, Mulching Are Important to Fall Garden

Though the days may be getting nippy, the real gardener still finds plenty to do. And in the crisp, bracing air every chore becomes a pleasure—and an excuse to stay outdoors. Here are some pointers, seasonal tips, suggested by the experts.

First, make sure that all your plants go into the winter with plenty of moisture in the soil and particularly your evergreens. The surest way to lose them is to leave them dry in the fall. If the hoped-for fall rains have proved insufficient, apply at least an inch of water every three or four days until the soil is moistened at least a foot or two deep. Broadleaved evergreens, in particular, are shallow rooted and suffer from lack of water.

Then, after the soil has been suitably moistened apply a 2 to 4-inch mulch of any good, not-easily-blown-away material available in your area. Don't put it on first, for it may interfere with your moistening of the parched soil. Some of the best materials are spent hops; buckwheat, rice, peanut or peat moss; salt marsh hay; wood chips; sugar cane bagasse; pine straw; redwood or fir bark; tanbark; and coarse sawdust. The last five are particularly desirable for acid-loving, broadleaved evergreens. The mid-season or winter-oak leaves are, too, but they must be partially decayed or kept from blowing with chicken wire or other material.

Mulch Roses Later

In the cases of roses and perennials mulches should not be applied until after the ground is well frozen. In this case, the mulch is applied not to conserve moisture but to keep the soil frozen and prevent alternate freezing and thawing. Also, by that time field mice and similar rodents have found winter nests elsewhere and are less likely to chew on the plants.

Camellia Time Is Here

In regions where camellias are grown (in a few cases as far north as Long Island) it is well to remember that the fall blooming season is right around the corner—if it hasn't already arrived. This is an ideal time to visit the nurseries where they are sold and select the kinds you like. Canned ones can be planted at once even in bloom, so long as the root balls are not disturbed. Remember that they need excellent drainage. Usually, it is safest to let the root ball set at once or more than the inches above the level of surrounding soil and then to mound up to it.

In the northern part of their range it is better to concentrate on the early-blooming types, those that bloom in the fall, and the late-blooming ones, those that bloom in the spring. The mid-season or winter-blooming ones are safe only in the warmer regions.

Protect From Wind

In windy areas, too, it is well to see that thick-topped trees are thinned out so that strong winds will not be so likely to topple them over if the soil gets overly wet and soft. Deciduous or leaf-dropping sorts now show their skeletons which makes thinning much easier. With evergreen trees there is never a time when the skeleton shows but, for that reason, it is even more important to see that the wind can blow through them.

Kitchen Arithmetic

There are four tablespoons (level) in a quarter of a cup, to remember that the fall five tablespoons plus 1 teaspoon (level) in a third of a cup.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

The Feminine Elbow

A teen lovely writes: My elbows are always rough and look dirty. Scrubbing and creaming don't help. You just can't imagine how terrible my arms look when I wear a formal, which I am going to do next weekend. So please send help in a hurry.

The Answer: Elbows that won't respond to daily — repeat daily — scrubbing and creaming are not likely to improve overnight, no matter what additional treatments come their way. But you can be sure of improvement, when you follow this routine:

1. During the daily bath, gently cleanse the elbows with a sudsy brush.
2. After bathing, apply a scuff remover. This is a fluid cream, originally meant to create pretty feet from a mass of callouses. Now experimentation proves it does the same job for the elbows. You simply rub it in until the rough skin is loosened, then you whisk away the particles. As only a little scuff comes away each day, don't expect miracles from one application. Keep at it — is the rule!
3. Here you have an alternative: You can pale the skin with either lemon or hand lotion. If you elect the lemon before-dinner beverage. Cut the method cut one in half and hull out; oil elbows and soak them in the cups for fifteen minutes. Or dampen gauze pads with hand lotion, secure them to your elbows with magic tape and leave on overnight. Use either method twice weekly.

Of course you'll stop leaning on your elbows. You do, you know! Otherwise the elbows of a groomed lovely could never, but never get in such a fix.

Lovelier Hands

Do you have a hand problem? Send today for Lovelier Hands, a booklet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

K of C Women Hear Convention Report

KAUKAUNA — Knights of Columbus women inducted Mrs. Ernest Landreman into the organization as an honorary member at the meeting Thursday evening. Reports on the Diocesan Convention at Green Bay were given by Mrs. Boniface Pendergast and Mrs. Nick Kaganaugh.

A mass for deceased members will be read at the St. Paul Home in November. Lunch was served by Mrs. Leland Scherer, Mrs. John Heindel, Mrs. Henry Schmidt, and Mrs. E. A. Nagan.

The next meeting will be Nov.

Shrimp Canape

Mash canned cleaned shrimp with butter and add enough cayenne pepper to make you sneeze! Serve as a spread for crackers with tomato juice or some other before-dinner beverage. Cut the canapes hot.

State Commander Speaks to Group

HORTONVILLE—Miss Shirley Barter, State Department Commander, addressed the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary Monday evening at the Community Hall.

The chapter voted on a donation to the Tomah hospital. Gifts will also be sent to the hospital. Serving on the lunch committee next month will be Mrs. Clair Cuff, Mrs. Harold Beresford and Mrs. Ray Birmingham.

Your Problems Child's Home Environment Important to Adjustment

BY ANN LANDERS

Dear Readers: Parents often write and ask me what makes some children turn out well and some badly. Why do some youngsters grow up to be responsible, loving, well-adjusted adults while others seem to lose their way?

There are no pat answers to these questions. Heredity is undeniably a factor but there is more and more evidence to support the theory that a child is the net result of what happens to him in his early years.

The following piece came in the mail from a reader. It was signed "Author Unknown," and I would like to share it with you.

If a child lives with criticism he learns to condemn.

If a child lives with hostility he learns to fight.

If a child lives with fear he learns to be apprehensive.

If a child lives with pity he learns to feel sorry for himself.

If a child lives with jealousy he learns to hate.

If a child lives with encouragement he learns to be confident.

If a child lives with praise he learns to be appreciative.

If a child lives with acceptance he learns to love.

If a child lives with approval he learns to like himself.

If a child lives with recognition he learns to have a goal.

Landers

If a child lives with fairness he learns justice.

If a child lives with honesty he learns what truth is.

If a child lives with friendliness he learns that the world is a nice place in which to live.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a Navy wife whose husband is on a Polaris submarine riding the sixth patrol. My man is gone for 14 weeks and is home for 10 weeks.

My two children are in school so they don't require much time or attention. I read, sew, clean, shop, bowl, swim, watch TV and go to the movies but still I get lonely especially for male companionship.

It is no secret that some Navy wives run around. Everyone knows who these women are. In some cases their husbands know and are willing to forgive and forget. I don't think my husband would be so broad-minded (or lion-hearted) if I stepped out on him.

So far I've been 100 per cent faithful but it's becoming increasingly difficult not to wink back—if you know what I mean. Please help.—A Polaris Wife

Dear Wife: To cheat or not to cheat—that is the question which faces almost all married people at one time or another. Disenchantment, or in some cases plain boredom, causes much of the straying.

Thousands of sad and sorry people have written to tell me they paid a dear price for what they had meant to be only a little fun. The ability to play it straight pays handsome dividends in long-term profits, my dear. This is what separates the girls from the women.

DEAR ANN: I was disappointed in your all-out knock for dancing schools.

You said, "Take that 11-year-old kid out of that silly dancing school and put him in a YMCA swimming class."

Just because the kids got into a kissing game at a party for the dancing class was no reason to bum-rap the school. Where were the parents when

Immaturity Can Destroy Marriage

Youthful marriages often break up because of the immaturity of the individuals. The strain of coping with a child-like partner may prove to be more than a stronger personality can tolerate.

An incident that revealed just such a situation occurred in a souvenir and gift shop recently. It revolved around a young, attractive, well-dressed couple, obviously newlyweds living on a budget.

Husband Buys
The girl browsed around the shop that sold everything from scrimshaw to blueberry jam, none of it expensive. Her husband was quite taken, meanwhile, with a ship-in-a-bottle built-it-yourself kit that cost $1. He examined it from every angle, finally took it sheepishly to the sales counter and handed over $1.

The pretty wife suddenly came to life.
"Why are you wasting a dollar," she said shrilly. "You ask me to account for every penny."
The big, handsome fellow shuffled his feet, then said meekly, "Would you like some of these?" He picked up a handful of Colonial-style soap balls that were on the counter, also for $1.
"I don't need soap," she said acidly, "and you certainly don't need that thing."
"It's an absolute waste," she repeated as his package was being wrapped. The young man was blushing, and then his bride suddenly thrust her hand out to a basket of silver spoons marked with the souvenir stamp of the town, each at $5, and said, "I'll take this, then."
He ignored her tantrum-tinged request, and firmly and quietly said, "Come, let's go."
But the girl suddenly bolted out of the store and ran up a street. The nice young man walked with large strides after her.
How many times are scenes like that repeated by girls who should still be home with mother? She would say later, no doubt, that he was selfish, inconsiderate and perhaps that he had been spoiled by his great aunt. But the young man was merely giving in to an impulse, and perhaps even beginning a hobby that would keep him at the hearthside when his buddies were out playing poker.
A mature girl would have encouraged him to enjoy himself with his dollar's worth of fun.
If she'd had any serious objection to the principle of the purchase no matter what the cost, she should have waited until they were alone to thrash it out.

WIDOW'S RINGS
Dear Louise: I have been told that when one becomes a widow, there is a certain way to wear the engagement and wedding rings. Would you please explain? My husband died almost two years ago and I wear my rings as I always did. I do not intend to discard my wedding ring as so many other widows do. Maybe they have a reason.

Louise Davis Answers:
You are correct by wearing your rings on the same finger as you did before your husband died. If a widow falls in love again and becomes engaged, she may put away her wedding ring and usually does. She either switches her engagement ring to the right hand to be worn as an ornament or she puts that away too.
ENTERING CONVENT
Dear Louise: My daughter is entering a convent to become a nun. Our original plan was to invite a few friends to a party for her and I intended to do the inviting by telephone. But the list has grown to about 100 people and within the next few days it will probably grow some more. This would necessitate mailing invitations. My daughter fears this will obligate everyone to bring gifts and she doesn't want that. What is your opinion and how can we avoid the gift giving?
Louise Davis Answers:
A mailed and telephone invitation are equal: a party for your daughter. Telephoning doesn't lessen the chance of a gift bringing. By all means, spare yourself by mailing your invitation now that your list has grown. I don't see how you can avoid gift-giving unless you ask relatives and a few close friends to get the word around, if and when they have the opportunity. Even if there were no party at engagement to John N. Abitz Fox Valley Lutheran High all. New CHEVELLE!

by Chevrolet

Only this could come between Chevrolet and Chevy II.
The Chevelle is a highly polished car on a trim 115-inch wheelbase. With its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. All of which makes it a sweet-handling, easy-to-maneuver automobile.
But it's roomy and relaxing inside, with the kind of ride you'd expect in a bigger car. And it's styled with a lively grace and refinements (curved side windows and pillars, for example) that make its modest price all the more remarkable.
A neat trick? We agree. But not so difficult really when you have the skills of seasoned Body by Fisher craftsmen to draw upon.
And the advantage of Full Coil suspension developed by the same engineering talent that came up with the Jet-smooth Chevrolet's ride.
And that irrepressible Chevrolet spirit in a choice of four engines—V8 or 6—including optional-at-extra-cost versions all the way up to 220 hp.
Small wonder this one turned out the way it did.
Did we say one? Actually there are 11 models—wagons, sedans, sport coupes, convertibles—in three series. Even some cars that have been around for a time don't give you a choice like that.
Sound like something you ought to check into further? Consider this your invitation for a real hood-raising, door-slamming, seat-bouncing, wheel-turning time of it at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Reactions to Smallpox Vaccinations Varied

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Why do some women prefer to be vaccinated for smallpox on the upper arm, and others on the thigh? What are the reactions to such a vaccination?

It might be helpful to advise women who are going abroad to have a vaccination long enough before the trip so that there will be no unsightly mark.

Dr. Molner

Yes, that's a good suggestion. For medical purposes, the site of vaccination is not important. In the old days when a large scar was usual, women preferred it to be on the thigh where it wouldn't show. However, with modern fashions in bathing suits, there's not much hidden space left.

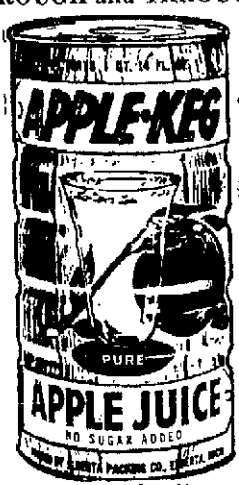

Vaccination scars are now very small — no more of those as big as a quarter.

Here are three basic reactions to smallpox vaccination:

1. The "take reaction." This occurs in from 5 to 7 days as a rule, and usually in a person who has never been vaccinated. First a pimple appears, then a vesicle, a pustule, finally the scab which later drops off, leaving the scar. The significance of the "take" is that the person had no immunity and hence was in need of vaccination.

There may be some feverishness, perhaps a headache, and there can be some knots or swelling of lymph glands in the neighborhood.

2. The "delayed reaction." This is much milder, and occurs sooner, usually in three or four days, with a small vesicle, small pustule, small scab, and maybe a small scar. This indicates that the person had some resistance to the disease but was also in need of a vaccination.

3. "Immediate reaction." This occurs within 24 to 48 hours, and amounts to nothing but a pimple comparable to a mosquito bite. It indicates that the person already had good protection against smallpox.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 13 and my skin breaks out. I was told Vitamin A will help. What do you think of this recommendation?

S. A. J.

First of all, I'm rather pleased that a 13-year-old can spell recommendation correctly. Second, yes, Vitamin A quite often helps, but not always. And even when it does, there are some procedures which do a great deal of good, with or without Vitamin A. I've written down the rules quite carefully in a booklet, "Acne, the Teen-Age Problem." To receive a copy, write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing 20 cents in coin, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Blood Color

Dear Dr. Molner: Do all humans have the same color of blood?

R. S.

Yes, all blood is red regardless of race or nationality. Characteristics such as skin, stature, facial features, etc., are not governed by the blood, but rather are transmitted by the germ cells from which the body grows. Therefore, for transfusion pur-

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Minding Your Business

TRUTH-IN-LENDING CRUSADERS ALREADY HAVE AN EXHIBIT A

DEAR CY:

In the drug store, I heard a woman wailing about how sick her husband was getting, due to excessive debts. She told the pharmacist he had bought household appliances, an auto, and all sorts of things on time and had no sales resistance. If you want, I could get you the name of the family so you could interview them and write about him. From what I heard, he would be an excellent example of the evils of our installment buying system. Your informative article on the Truth in Lending bill prompts my suggestion.

DEAR AMY:

The cause for Truth in Lending already has its Exhibit "A." On February 5, 1960, William Rodriguez, a 23-year-old Puerto Rican died by his own hand. His life in this country was punctuated by a series of extravagances, garnished with charges for merchandise he never ordered. Suicide while temporarily insane due to the pressure from creditors, was the verdict of the coroner's jury. Rodriguez was a loyal family man, a wife and four children, and felt his $7,000 life insurance policy placed a higher value on him dead than alive. Though this case is not typical of consumer installment debtors, it has become the horrible example. Fortunately most merchants, selling on the installment basis, are not seeking the likes of Rodriguez for customers.

DEAR CY:

I like to eat and strongly believe most restaurants make a big mistake. They offer everything under the sun and don't excel in anything. My daughter Jeannie came back from Aspen, Colorado, raving about hamburger joints at a spot called Pincocchio's. Your readers might profit from knowing what Pincocchio has done with the lowly hamburger. Here are variations of his specialty as listed on the menu:

Charburger (Charburger Supreme) (garnished with lettuce, tomato, onion, pickle); Cheeseburger (with Muenster cheese); Swissburger (with Swiss cheese); Chiburger (smothered with our chili and beans); Hamburgburger (with Swiss cheese and sauerkraut); Russianburger (richly covered with sour cream); Mushoomburger (topped with mushrooms, sauteed in butter); Italianburger (topped with sauteed mushrooms and Italian sauce); Curryburger (wings and charges for merchandise with an authentic curry sauce); Pincocchioburger (covered with our famous Italian sauce); Arella and Romano cheese on a garlic bun; Fleischburger (putty chopped onions and egg in the bun); Hamburger, sauteed mushrooms and Italian sauce on top; served on a garlic bun. Jeannie says value on him dead than alive the place was continually packed with customers.

DEAR MRS. G. Z.:

Another resort gastronomic emporium, John's Galley (Ehment's), Wisconsin, features "The Pirate." Old strips of weather beaten deck drenched in tenderizer to make it look like a steak. Sold on a no-money-back guarantee" and "Garlic-burger." It's the Captain all stunk up with aromatic garlic and a touch of green relish. No question about it, imagination in merchandising good food creates delighted repeat consumers.

DEAR CY:

My son, who does a lot of travelling, spotted a nice motel for sale in a neighboring state. He has sold my wife and me on buying it with him and can come up with one-third down payment. Our predicament is banks and savings and loan companies we have dealt with for years are not interested in financing the balance. Since this doesn't seem right, we are determined to get the money somewhere. Any suggestions?

DEAR MR. VINCENT:

With state and federal governments constantly unwinding new ribbons of concrete, many beautiful motels have been cut off from the life blood of their business. Lending institutions consider motels highly speculative and are gun shy of furnishing capital. If the seller won't take a note, check with a lending institution near the motel site. Based on their knowledge of the motel's potential and your backgrounds, you may be able to raise the money. If not, be

Citizens Want Concrete for New Streets

Kimberly Group Meets With Board Of Public Works

KIMBERLY — A large majority of the 60 citizens of Joseph and Third streets, appearing at an informative meeting with the board of public works, said they prefer concrete streets when their area is improved.

Should the board approve, as appears likely, it would set a pattern for all future street improvements in the recently developed residential area west of Railroad Street as board members spoke of the impracticality of having streets of different surfaces within the same plat.

These streets are under consideration for improvement in 1964. Eugene Hietpas, street department foreman, presented figures showing estimated costs of three types of street surfacing.

Estimated Assessment

He estimated assessment cost of concrete paving with integral curbing at $6.09 per lineal foot, asphalt street with tar base and concrete curb at $5.22 per lineal foot and asphalt street with soil cement base and concrete curb at $5.54 per foot.

Discussion was held on the merits of the three types of streets, particularly to the life of the street and maintenance costs.

The village contemplates undertaking $80,000 in street improvements in 1964 under its revolving street improvement fund program. A group of citizens representing the fourth block on Joseph Street asked that their portion of the street be improved, but they told funds limited the amount of work which could be done and the board was unable to ascertain the true amount until after bids were received.

Alvin Fulcer, village president, indicated bids would be advertised in February and opened in March with work to get underway as early as feasible in spring to avoid unnecessary delay and inconvenience to citizens. Future meetings with taxpayers are contemplated after bids are received.

Parents' 'Go To School Night' Set

Wilson Junior High School will hold "Go to School Night" for parents from 7 to 10 p.m. Monday.

Parents will follow an abbreviated schedule of their child's regular school program at the annual fall open house. This format was started last year, to replace a mass conference situation, and was well received by both parents and faculty members, according to Orlyn A. Zieman, principal.

Parents will report to their child's home room and be given a copy of his program. Then they will follow an abbreviated form of the regular class schedule, followed by refreshments in the gymnasium.

Short Meetings

In the short meetings, each teacher will acquaint the parents with the program of studies, the course organization and routine.

Zieman said the school wants to avoid the conference-type open house because it has both quarterly report cards and annual parent conferences during the year. Parents may arrange a special conference at any time they feel it necessary, he added.

Invitations to the open house have been sent to all students' parents.

Purchasing Unit Seeking Bids On Squad Car

KAUKAUNA—The purchasing committee of the common council is accepting bids on a new police squad car until 4 p.m. Tuesday, bids to be filed with the city clerk.

Specifications for the vehicle are available from the clerk or at the police department and include trade-in allowance for a 1962 vehicle. This is the second time the purchasing committee is advertising for bids, the first bids were returned unopened when it was found specifications prevent all auto dealers in the community from submitting proposals.

Specifications were revised to permit all car dealers to submit bids. Findings of the purchasing committee will be forwarded to the common council with a recommendation to buy.

Xavier High to Present Concert

Wind Ensemble to Record Tape For Entry in National Contest

The Xavier High School music department will present its annual fall band and choral concert at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Xavier gymnasium.

During the concert the wind ensemble will record the first movement of the "Unfinished Symphony (No. 8)" by Franz Schubert, the required number for entry in the National Catholic Music Educators Association tape contest for Catholic high school bands of the United States and Canada.

The Xavier wind ensemble won the contest last year and performed for the opening general session of the NCMEA convention in Cleveland, Ohio. This year the winning band will be invited to appear on the convention program in St. Louis, Mo. in April.

Mixed Chorus

The fall concert will feature the mixed chorus and the freshman boys' chorus, both under the direction of Austin Boncher, and the concert band, the stage band and the wind ensemble, all directed by Francis Scholtz.

The mixed chorus will sing selections from "West Side Story." The 182-voice freshman chorus, made up of boys in the music appreciation classes taught by Boncher, will perform a medley of songs from "Oklahoma."

The concert band, which is made up primarily of freshmen, will play Handel's "Aria" and "Fugue." The percussion section will be featured in "Sambalita" by Morrissey.

Name Band

The stage band, a comparatively new musical group at Xavier, will play two arrangements designed to bring back memories of the "name" bands that use ditto play for dancing in this area. They will play "Diggin' Roots," a blues arrangement of the "name" band, and "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing."

The wind ensemble also will play Clare Grundman's "Music for a Carnival," a favorite selection of the band; Beethoven's "Prometheus Overture," an Irish tune from "County Derry and Shepherd's Hey," and selections from "The King and I."

To make the concert experience more meaningful, the music groups wrote papers on each of the important composers' works being performed in the concert. The best papers from the boys' and girls' music appreciation classes and the two

Sewage Plant Grant Given To Twin Cities

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., announced from his Washington, D.C. office today federal approval of a $505,950 grant under the Federal Water Pollution Control Program to Neenah-Menasha.

Proxmire said the total project cost will be $1,686,500. Work will include remodeling and alterations and the present plant will be converted to an activated sludge treatment plant.

The Neenah-Menasha Sewerage Commission is under orders from the State Board of Health to provide secondary sewage treatment. A bill has been passed by the Legislature and signed by Gov. John Reynolds giving the commission authority to fill in part of the Lake Winnebago shoreline so that the plant site can be expanded.

Construction of a $23,000 pilot plant is underway to provide information on which the final plans will be based.

Rites Set for Former Twin Cities Man

HOUSTON, TEX. — Funeral services for Walter M. Clist Jr., 40, former Neenah and Menasha resident, will be held Friday.

Clist, who died Tuesday, was manager of a private golf club and had been staff supervisor of hotels and restaurants for the past five years. Before that, he had served as manager of North Shore Golf Club, Menasha, reported an attorney. Survivors include his widow and three children.

Gentle Touch, Words Soften Hurt For Boy With Hand Caught in Door

BY JEAN OTTO Post-Crescent News Service

Jimmy Van Ryzin had a lot of new experiences Wednesday afternoon. Not all of them were fun, but when you're four-years-old, you forget the bad parts easily and remember the rest.

Things Jimmy will remember are his mother's gentle touch and words of comfort; neighbors standing around with soft looks in their eyes; his twin brother's quiet, watchful stare; the sound of sirens; deep strong voices, and a new name—Sam—bestowed with affection by the men who eventually lifted him into their arms, ruffled his hair and solemnly examined his swollen hand.

Jimmy and his brother Allen sat down to watch cartoons on television after lunch Wednesday noon. His three older sisters went back to school and the baby took a nap. Before Mrs. Carl Van Ryzin, 732 S. Fairview St., went to the basement to sort laundry she told her boys they could play outside in the mild October sunshine.

Heard the Message About 1:30 p.m. she heard a scream, but the boys often screamed when they saw bees, and she thought little of the sound. Then, it came through as a cry of honest pain, and she ran outside. Jimmy was inside the garage, his hand wedged tightly in the hinge side of the swinging doors. Telling herself to be calm, she gently closed and opened the door, trying to widen the opening. Jimmy screamed loudly with the slightest movement of the door. Giving him a quick hug, Mrs. Van Ryzin ran to a neighbor for help. Judging that it was hopeless, the neighbor suggested calling a fire department squad.

"It couldn't have been more than five minutes, but it seemed like ages," Mrs. Van Ryzin said of the wait for help. The firemen directed that Jimmy's hand be thoroughly lathered with soapy water. As they looked over, Jimmy became too interested in what they were doing to cry. He watched quietly as they manipulated the door with crowbars, all the while calling him "Sam" and telling him what a big boy he was and patting him on the shoulder. In about 10 minutes he was free.

Lifted High, Examined That's when he was lifted high and hugged warmly and examined for broken bones. There was nothing to show for his agony—the first thing to be forgotten—except bruises and swelling and a small scratch on the back of his hand. He could manfully shake hands with the firemen who'd freed him, and he was able to use the injured fingers for cracking peanut shells.

And he was able—and quite willing—to take up with his brother the pursuit of boyish pastimes. It's not easy for a four-year-old to know how such things happen, but the knowledge that doors have special dangers will probably remain for quite a while. And the entire incident was remembered long enough to tell Dad about at supper time. He'd had quite an unusual day.

Reshuffling of School Districts in Calumet County Causing Problems

Harrison Township Territory for Hilbert, Stockbridge Boards Brings Tuition Mixup

HILBERT — The reshuffling Hilbert and Chilton during reorganization of Harrison Township territory has caused a mixup between the Hilbert and Stockbridge school districts has resulted in some complex tax and tuition problems, Hilbert Board of Education members learned this week.

Supervising Principal Arnold Chada reported legal information he has received regarding tax division between the districts for the Harrison territory involved in the shift. The Hilbert District is seeking some of the taxes collected by Stockbridge.

The issue is the result of school district reorganization action taken by the Calumet County School Committee a year ago. Originally the school committee approved a petition placing a substantial portion of Harrison Township south of Sherwood into the Stockbridge District.

Action Held Up

The school committee action held up until after Oct. 1, the tax levy deadline, and the Stockbridge District was able to claim about $7,000 in taxes from the territory. Meanwhile, however, a counter petition was filed and approved by the school committee which restored a major share of the original area to the Hilbert District. The action was taken shortly after the Oct. 1 tax levy deadline and the Hilbert District wound up with the transferred territory's school responsibilities for most of the school year and none of the tax revenue.

A State Department of Public Instruction ruling may be required to clear up the issue, Chada said.

The board approved payment of $1,369 to the Chilton Joint District No. 1 as the latter's share of Potter District's assets. The district was absorbed by

Consider Study Of Dropouts In Appleton

Labor Department, Community Services Would Make Survey

A survey of job possibilities for young people and of the school dropout problem in Appleton is being considered as a cooperative project of the U. S. Department of Labor and the United Community Services.

Rowlands Todd, U.S. executive director, said Wednesday a decision will be made within a month on whether to conduct the study. The decision will depend on the amount of interest in it, he said.

Albert Nellum, Chicago, regional youth consultant with the U. S. Department of Labor, has conferred with Todd on the possibility of conducting the survey similar studies in Oshkosh and Green Bay.

Survey's Purpose

The purpose of the survey, Todd said, would be to determine what the situation is in Appleton and whether a program to provide job opportunities and training for young people and to cut down on the number of dropouts is needed.

A study of this type must be conducted on a community rather than an area basis, Todd said, because of the effect of differences in school systems, employment offices and welfare departments.

Earlier this week William Spears, assistant superintendent of schools, told the Appleton PTA Council that dropout rate in the Appleton Public Schools is about 18 per cent, which he called "too high for a community of this stature."

Appleton's definition of a dropout, he explained, includes any student who leaves high school and does not return to school for any reason, including vocational school attendance. This is the definition accepted by national educators, he said.

Appleton Firm Protests 'Bombing' of Vehicle

A furniture store spokesman has complained to Appleton police that his truck has been "bombed."

Police learned that two youths were seen on the 10th floor of the Irving Zuelke Building Wednesday, dropping water-filled rubber balloons on top of a truck owned by the Bretschneider Furniture Co., 113 W. College Ave.

The youths were described as between 16 and 18 years of age.

Plans for developing a long-range water supply are being weighed by the Kimberly Water Commission after a meeting Wednesday with officials of the Appleton Water Department.

The village delegation obtained projected data and information, based on an assumption that Appleton will go to Lake Michigan for water.

William Gallaher, superintendent of the Appleton Water Works, said the general information dealt with water temperatures, hardness, pressures and rates, the latter to be increased 60 per cent should the city undertake a pipeline project.

Two Alternatives Members of the Kimberly Water Commission which also provides the Village of Combined Locks with water, appear to be faced with two alternatives: add another well to its present system or buy water wholesale from Appleton in future years.

Officials emphasized the joint nature of the information and no policy matters were discussed.

Village officials indicated a decision will have to be made in the not-too-distant future as to what course to follow in planning for a long-range water supply.

The commission will make a report to the Kimberly Common Council, outlining its information and recommendations.

Recently, the Appleton council voted to discontinue the Fox River as a water source and explore the Lake Michigan proposal, recommended by the water department.

County Taxpayers Oppose Fairground Shelter Project

Elimination of Cash Proposal Is Sought

OSHKOSH — Elimination of the $145,000 for a new all purpose building at the fairgrounds and the purchase of lots on which to place it plus a cultural center, was the main item on the agenda of the Winnebago County Taxpayers Association meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Appearing before the Winnebago County Board at its budget hearing were Paul Glaister representing the Neenah-Menasha Taxpayers Association and Courtland Carrier, Oshkosh Taxpayers Association representative.

Both called attention to the trend in taxes and urged economies wherever possible. Glaister stressed holding the tax level to at least the level it was for this year's budget.

Increase Unjustified

"Any increase is unjustified and spurious and a most unfortunate blow to the county and the residents of the county. The income of the residents is not increasing," Glaister declared.

He said there is little evidence as to the value of the guidance center to the county and pointed out the center has indicated it cannot accept new patients for months. The Taxpayers Association he continued recommended deletion of the $8,000 for He cited the question has been an added social worker and an other clerical worker.

Glaister continued that there should be a thorough and accurate audit as to the caseloads in the welfare department and what constitutes an active case-load particularly in view of the proposal to add six new welfare workers next year. This is because of new state requirements as to the number of cases per worker and the number of workers per supervisor, he said.

Cut Pleasant Acres

The Taxpayers Association continued to oppose the $145,000 for the fairgrounds building as unwarranted and unjustified and not based on an accurate study of the county's needs. They also recommended $25,000 as the maximum for the Pleasant Acres project and suggest that this be used for a thorough study on the car for the aged.

Carrier during his appearance before the County Board Wednesday afternoon said the Oshkosh group also opposes the fairgrounds building item and wonders if county fairs have outlived their general usefulness becoming more entertainment.

Rules Committee Votes Probe Into Baker's Affairs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee has voted a full investigation of Robert G. Baker and any other present or former Senate employee who may have been involved in a conflict of interest.

Baker was secretary to the Democratic majority when he quit his $19,600-a-year post Oct. 7 shortly after it was disclosed that the FBI was looking into his outside business transactions.

That investigation in turn triggered by a $300,000 damage suit filed by a vending machine company alleging Baker had used his Senate position to obtain contracts for another vending firm.

88 Degree Temperature In Wisconsin

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin's record-shattering high temperatures are giving to suspicions that state residents will pay for the luxury this winter with readings on the opposite extreme.

The mercury soared to 88 at Pewaukee Wednesday and was only two degrees shy of the nation's high mark for the day.

Other highs across the state included 84 at Milwaukee and Lone Rock, 83 at Beloit, 82 at La Crosse, 81 at Madison and 80 at Eau Claire and Burlington.

Milwaukee's 84 degree reading equalled the highest temperature ever recorded locally on that date while Beloit and Madison temperatures also set records. Superior's 78 degrees was a new daily high.

Imperial, Calif., set the national temperature pace with a 90-degree reading.

ARE PEOPLE MORE INTELLIGENT NOWADAYS?

YES ☐ NO ☐

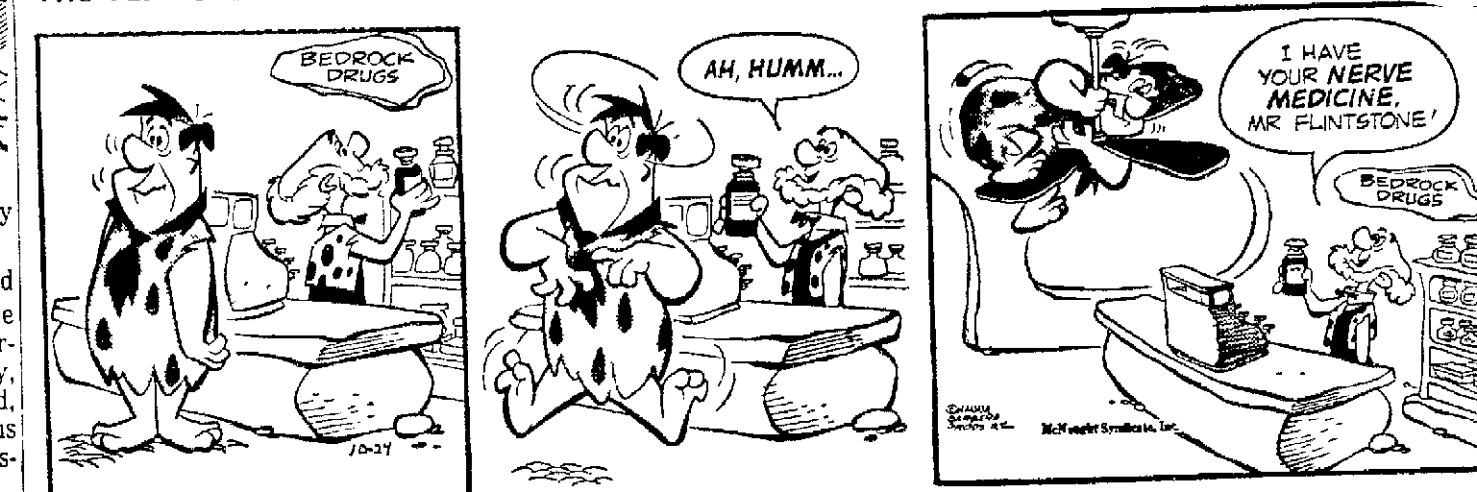

Yes they are. People are better informed and educated today. They are more aware of problems and more stimulated to think. Discuss and tangle with intellectual questions than people were 100 years ago. Mass communication—the daily newspaper, radio, television, magazines, the telephones—all can take some credit for these changes. But they have a responsibility too to improve their offerings to fit the needs of today's people.

Faces on Paper Plates Make Excellent Halloween Game

BY CAPPY DICK

If you are planning a Halloween party, you might include a contest to see which of the guests can draw the funniest face on the bottom of his paper plate.

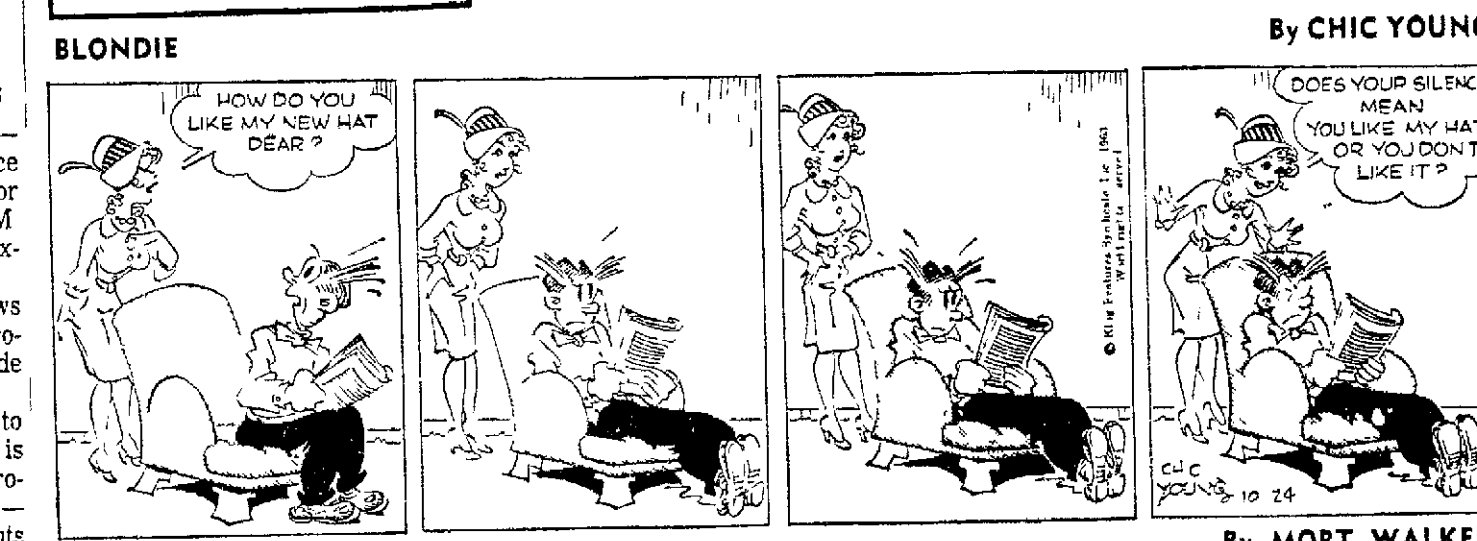

Just before the refreshments are served, pass the paper plates around, also giving each to a guest a crayon or any other marking tool (even a pencil will do).

When the materials have been distributed, explain that at a signal everyone is to have three minutes in which to draw a funny face on the bottom of his plate—specify the bottom because the top side of the plate will be used to hold the refreshments that are soon to be served.

Give the signal to start and when the three minutes have passed call the game to a halt and have the plates collected. Standing before all the guests, hold each plate up and ask them to show by their applause which they think is the funniest face of all. You may have to go through the judging several times to be sure which plate gets the greatest amount of applause.

When the winning plate has been selected by the artists themselves, announce that the victorious player will get an extra helping of ice cream as his reward.

Bing's Next TV Show Has Background Story

Guest Entertainer First Heard Crosby Over 'Verboten' Radio in German Camp

BY JINGO

A week from tonight there will be a meeting on television of a famed entertainer with dreadful memories and an equally famed entertainer who once, unknowingly, endangered her life.

At 8 p.m. on Channel 2 next Thursday Caterina Valente, the European singing and dancing star, will appear as the guest star on the Bing Crosby Show.

"If I had been caught the first time I heard Bing Crosby sing, I would have been shot," she recalled. "I was just a little girl, interned with my family (The Valentines, a traveling show troupe) in Germany by the Nazis during the war."

"An armed forces radio station in England was broadcasting a Bing Crosby record, and several prisoners and I were listening over a tiny radio concealed inside the camp. The penalty for having such a radio was death."

That was 20 years ago. Mathematically, the chances of Caterina ever leaving the concentration camp alive and ultimately sharing the same stage with Bing are too remote to compute. But next Thursday it happens.

Has Jingo any aspiring playwright? Are they discouraged because of the monopoly held by the east coast on giving fledgling playwrights a chance?

Well let them know—if they are too busy writing to read Jingo's efforts—that opportunity has come a-knocking at their doors right here in Wisconsin.

Milwaukee Angels
A group of Milwaukee angel investors in Broadway productions, discouraged by consistent losses, have decided they can accomplish more for theater in America by diverting some of MacRae joins the regulars on their funds to a play writing contest, with a $500 award for the prize script.

If the winning play is judged to have sufficient merit, it may be produced in Milwaukee by one of several interested university or civic drama groups. New York producers will be invited to attend the dramatization of the play.

Contest rules are available from Milwaukee Drama Council, Inc., 1075 W. County Line Rd., Milwaukee 17.

Scripts will be accepted until May 1 and the winner will be announced by June 30, or as soon thereafter as a decision is reached by the judges. Scripts will be returned to authors as they are eliminated by the judges.

Judges will be selected from a panel of professional producers, directors, drama critics and university drama professors. Judges reserve the right not to award the prize if in their opinion no script has sufficient merit to warrant professional staging.

Understudy Keeps Busy as Standby; Pens Plays, Opera

NEW YORK (AP) — What's an understudy to do while waiting to go on? The answer for Sheppard Kerman is authorship.

During the run of "The Sound of Music," Kerman wrote two full-length plays, a one-acter an opera libretto while standing by in the dressing room as emergency substitute for Kurt Kasznar.

One of the scripts, "Mr. Simian," is scheduled for off-Broadway production this season. The plot concerns five people fleeing a plague-infested city in a freighter, and according to Kerman "contains elements of comedy, drama and fantasy."

Lawrence and Downer

The merger of Lawrence and Milwaukee Downer Colleges is of obvious advantage to both institutions and will make of the new Lawrence University an institution of greater stature and potential than the sum of its individual parts.

Lawrence gains the use of an estimated $13 million to apply to future academic expansion. Downer faculty members, students, staff and trustees and hopefully the loyalty of its alumni and friends.

Downer gains identification with a larger institution and greater opportunity for future growth. The University of Wisconsin is a side beneficiary in that acquisition of the Downer property in Milwaukee will permit a much-needed expansion of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee which the Downer property directly adjoins.

Perpetuation of the Downer name in the consolidated institution is a logical concomitant. It is an old and respected name in the education of women in the state and Lawrence will gain from that tradition and respect.

The new name Lawrence University may take a little getting used to. It was actually known as a university for 64 years prior to 1913. The important fact is, however, that the change in designation will in no way mean any change in purpose. Lawrence College for men, Downer College for women and the Conservatory of Music will still comprise in reality a liberal arts college in the important meaning of that phrase today.

It is quite significant that this announcement came only five days after Dr. Curtis Tarr's inauguration as Lawrence president. He played a significant role in bringing the consolidation to fruition in the short time that he has been here.

Dr. Tarr's comments on the move are also significant.

"During the past quarter-century Lawrence has made great strides as a small, liberal arts college. This consolidation will provide some of the faculty and financial assistance needed in the future to augment our present program and to permit even more individual attention and encouragement to students. This is an important milestone for Lawrence which should inspire all those seriously interested in her future."

The consolidation may even hold important portents for the future in the field of private educational institutions. These are hazardous financial times for the independent college. Only those which have an ample supply of loyal friends and alumni face the future with any sense of security.

Lawrence and Downer by merging their mutual interests have certainly added insurance to their future.

A Lord in Commons?

The appointment of Lord Home as Prime Minister of Great Britain and his subsequent decision to renounce his peerage and run for a vacant seat in Commons in a special election before Commons reconvenes will inevitably raise the question as to how far the English have come from their fear of control by the aristocracy.

Until last summer it would really have been impossible for a peer to become Prime Minister. The House of Lords has practically no legislative power whatsoever and a peer cannot sit in the House of Commons. But a young Labor Party member inherited his title and attempted to resign it. An election court ruled that he could not sit in the Commons so the Peerage Bill was passed last July specifically making it legal for a peer to resign his title and run for the Commons.

Lord Home will now take advantage of this new privilege. He has selected a safe Conservative constituency from which to seek his Commons seat, so no test of his political popularity will be immediately involved.

Politics is nothing new to Lord Home although, until he became foreign secretary in 1960, he was little known. His full name is Alexander Frederick Douglas-Home, Earl of Home and Baron Home, Baron of Douglas in Scotland and Baron Douglas in the United Kingdom. He was elected to the Commons before he inherited his title prior to World War II but was defeated in 1945. In 1950, just a year before he became an earl and had to resign, he was once more elected to the Commons.

Appointed Minister of State for Scottish

Affairs, then Secretary of State for Commonwealth Affairs and finally Foreign Secretary, Lord Home built up a respected but not emotionally enthusiastic following. He is quiet, reserved, almost what one considers a typical British earl. But he is also known for his skillful parliamentary work, his good relations with the United States and firmness toward the Soviet Union. The latter may stem from his association with the Conservative Party at the time of Munich.

Lord Home's title has already given the Labor and Liberal parties new ammunition for the general election. "The Right-Wing, with all its old-school-tie associations, has once more attempted to turn back the clock of progress . . . The upshot of this is that the Tories look less than ever like a party in tune with the second half of the 20th century." Lord Home probably won't "be able to stand up long to those tough guys in the Commons." This is obviously the line to be taken by the opposition.

The real test of British reaction to the peerage in control of the government will come in the general elections which must be ordered by a year from now. Lord Home will have that amount of time to consolidate his leadership of the Conservative party and attempt to present a more popular image of the Tories in charge of the government. But his renounced title is bound to be a factor in the general elections, and the traditional British fear of the peerage may be the biggest obstacle the Conservative party will have to overcome.

United Nations Day

It must appear to many of us that the United Nations, as it rather halfheartedly celebrates its 18th birthday, has been an appalling failure. Its high sounding Charter is not upheld; the very membership of a single Communist nation is an affront to the "peace-loving" requirement. New nations, with spokesmen who do not understand very much about representative government or honesty in high places, attempt to use the U.N. machinery for their own purposes. Blocs of nations voting together have ignored the right and wrong of issues for political advantage. There are investigations of wrongs in small, uninfuential countries, while the powerful go scot free in the most flagrant of violations.

And yet, in a way, the United Nations may be counted a success because of its very failures.

The U.N. was born in a world so sick of a hideous war that it forgot that peace and freedom do not come automatically with a fine set of phrases or even some noble intentions. It was the edge of the atomic age and we had had only a hint of what total war could be. But in the vision of peace we forgot to be realistic about the weaknesses and frailties of both human beings and the governments they support.

We have found out, through deep disillusionment, that some sort of a halo does not automatically rest upon the brow of a country just because it becomes independent. We have discovered that black and brown and yellow men can be as wily and foolish as white men. National ambition has turned out to be not just an Anglo-Saxon sin. Perhaps the greatest lesson of all is that now we know that struggles will continue, against greed, against selfishness, against poverty and war and hunger, against the failings of mankind which cause them, against perhaps the Devil himself.

The impotence of the U.N. has taught us that mankind will probably never be at complete peace and perhaps he should not be. But with the clouds of dreams blown away by stark reality we can look at the problems more clearly and try to figure out ways to solve them.

Within the U.N., or some sort of similar organization or group of regional organizations, the conflict must continue to prevent the selfish from using them all for their own motives rather than to alleviate human suffering and its myriad of causes. We do not have to settle for something more limited in the way of dreams; but only in what we can do without what we have.

The remarkable aspect of the United Nations today is not that it is so different as it has grown and expanded and faced reality but rather that it has survived at all.

Envy Sprouting Among Soldiers

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Oct. 22, 1863.

A correspondent of the Home League, writing from the Wisconsin 29th Regiment now stationed at Brashear City, La., speaks as follows of the envy springing up between Eastern and Western troops:

"I am sorry to see so much contention existing between the the Eastern and Western troops out this way.

"The Western chaps are. I am ready to say, the most to blame, echoing at all hours the mistaken idea that no army raised East of the Alleghenies can be supposed to do fighting compared with the style in which the Suckers, Badgers, etc., do the thing.

"The consequence is that some rough discussions take place occasionally, between the roughest of both sides, and the

American Legion's Fight Against Communism Shouldn't be Scorned

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I am writing this letter to take exception with your editorial, "The Legion Goofs Again" in last week's paper. It is a sad day when a great veterans organization as the American Legion is put to such ridicule as you have seen fit to do in your editorial. Does the Legion deserve this because they proposed legislation they feel will help eliminate the dread disease of communism on the American scene? I should say not.

It is the American Legion's right to propose such legislation as it is your right to say what you will in your editorial.

Members of the Kaukauna High School debate team were Earl O'Connor, Louis Vanderloop, James McGrath, Genevieve Wrensch, Paul Akers and Mary Lou Vanevenhoven.

Mary Young and Barbara Bounds were Appleton students at Lawrence College named to the business staff of the yearbook Ariel. Area students working on the office staff for Ariel were Betty Anne Theurer, Appleton, and John Coumbe, Oshkosh.

Chosen for leading roles in the Marion Elementary School operetta, "Autumn Gold," were Doris Wienandt, Lois Tarfitt, Lynn Peters, Jack Smith and Douglas Mayne.

Robert Meyers was elected president of the Little Theater of the Fox River Valley.

10 YEARS AGO
Thursday, Oct. 22, 1953.

Directors were elected to the board of the newly organized Fox Cities Knife and Fork Club. They included J. R. Whitman Sr., Victor I. Minahan, Mrs. A. H. Wickesberg, Miss Elsie Kopplin, Harlan S. Kirk and E. A. Dettman. Dettman was elected president of the organization. Minahan vice president, and Leonard Bubolz secretary-treasurer.

The committee in charge of the Black Creek Advancement Association's Halloween party for children in the village and rural area included Ervin Rohloff, Willard Last and Clarence Gregorius.

Raymond Pritzl was installed as president of the John Barry Post, Catholic War Veterans, and Miss Evelyn Guckenberger was seated as guest of the auxiliary.

Ann Pearson was named homecoming queen at Neenah High School. Members of her court were Barbara Paif, Nancy Hammel, Ann Norman and Carol Casperson.

Melvin Jochman and Lorraine Stephan were named king and queen of the Shiocton High School homecoming. Members of their court included Deloris Stephan, Ilene Welch, Nancy Waterstrodt and Lonnie Thede.

ials. In each case you are expressing your views. At least the Legion is trying to combat those who threaten our way of life.

I cannot agree with your reasoning against such a law. The communist party of the United States has been labeled by our government as an agent of a foreign government. Their purpose admittedly is to overthrow our democratic form of government. Since the communist party is controlled by foreign elements and opposed to all we believe in, are we to allow it freedoms guaranteed under our system to help destroy that same system. To put it another way, in a hot war you would give the enemy benefit of new weapons that we develop and could aid them in their goal to dominate us. I venture to say you would not.

If the Communist Party of the United States was made up of, and controlled by American people, then and only then would I agree with your reasoning. This does not mean that I have any use for this organization or their communist-trained leaders. For it has been proven over and over in the world today by their deeds that they will lead the entire world to destruction if not stopped and stopped soon.

The American people are continually told to fight communism in every way they can, yet, if they do, they are considered extremist. When it comes to fighting communism there is just no in between.

Most of us Legionnaires are every day people who are constantly reminded of the dangers of communism in our country. We do not profess to understand and know all the deceitful methods of communism, but we do know this, we are proud Americans and we intend to do whatever necessary to pass this great heritage on to our children and their children.

I cannot be mad at you, or your paper for expressing your views on the proposed law, however, I do resent your implications of irresponsibility on the part of the American Legion and of its leaders. There are over two million men and women in this great country of ours including many outstanding citizens and leaders who respect the American Legion and its programs enough to maintain their membership over the years. As a matter of fact, three of the four living presidents or ex-presidents are Legionnaires.

In closing, I would like to say, criticize the American Legion and its programs if you must, but do not insinuate that it is contributing in any way to destroy the democratic heritage we as Legionnaires hold so dear to our hearts.

Is Wire-Tapping Legal? No, Wrong Word Used

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Since when has it been lawful to tap a telephone line, by police or civilians? If I don't get an answer I will write to the mayor or the telephone company. Doesn't a private citizen have some privacy over his telephone? I am referring to the Ronald Pahlke case.

Mrs. H. O. O'Brien
400 W. Main St.,
Little Chute

(Editor's Note: Yes, wire tapping is illegal. The word "tap" used in this news story was erroneous and misleading. Police, through the co-operation of the telephone company, actually placed a "tracer" on a telephone line used by Pahlke to call his wife. In that way they were able to learn where Pahlke was calling from and to arrest him at that location.)

Wisconsin Report

No Conclusions Can be Expected This Fall From 'Gold Ribbon' Studies

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — The hope that the special commission of citizens chosen three months ago to review state-local expenditure problems can arrive at any conclusions and file a report to be of any use to the legislature in November has just about been abandoned.

Wyngaard

Perhaps it never was a very practicable idea, since the legislature commissioned a group of amateurs, in a manner of speaking, to wade into a problem which the legislators as professional politicians were unable to handle to their own satisfaction although they worked at it almost full-time from January to August.

As matters stand now, the so-called "Gold Ribbon" commission will scarcely have acquainted itself with the scope of the problem when the legislative gavel falls for the reconvening of both houses in November. The hope was that something could be devised to avoid the necessity for an additional $10,000,000 from the spare state treasury for school aids. That is now out of the question. It is doubtful that the commission can get a reasonably comprehensive view of the problem by Nov. 4, not to mention revising the aid formula.

THE PROBLEM

All this is not to say that the commission's study and work will be futile. Whatever it concludes and whatever it says will be available for the next regular legislative session in 1965, which any realist knows will wrestle with the same problem of rising costs, even more steeply rising appropriation demands, and a treasury deficit again.

But it has become apparent that the device of a citizens' group to provide moral support for what the legislature wants to do, but dares not do without some softening of public opinion, is not quite as simple as some of the authors of this scheme evidently imagined.

The "gold ribbon" commission, as some editors have inevitably dubbed it in their headline style, was consciously modeled upon the "blue ribbon" commission which studied tax problems and evolved a series of proposals for tax revision a few years earlier. Yet taxation as a matter of public policy is comparatively simple and most attentive private citizens of any stature can come into a discussion about it with reasonable competence. The complexities and the foundations of the huge budget of state and local government expenditures are something else again. The pressure of the interests involved is far greater than was exhibited in the taxation policy review, however disputatious that was. Some of the most powerful lobbies in existence are watching with hawk-like vigilance. There are more individual prejudices and interests involved among the commission members.

HARD TO BEGIN

The first stages of the committee's deliberations have been devoted to gathering the facts which must be preliminary to the judgment of any of these men who have a decent regard for their reputations.

But as in most public affairs, sources of the factual material tend to be the agencies and the men running them who are the eager defenders of what has been in public expenditure, and skilled advocates of enlargement and growth in those public services which represent their professional employment. It takes an enormous capacity for detachment to listen to some of these men without being converted.

Thus it is not at all unlikely that some commission members who were chosen to devise or establish a plateau in state-local taxation and disbursement, at the least, will tend to become persuaded that more spending is needed and desirable. In the end, the decisions about holding down or retrenching will be made by the politicians, however much they would like to get their leads from private citizens.

Pessimist Is One Who Lives With Optimist

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices:

One of the saddest sights in the world is a man who, at the same time, looks aged and immature: who has become gray and lined beyond his years, and yet has not acquired the character to match his appearance.

Harris

"Giving an example" is not proof of anything, except of giving an example: we all know that one swallow does not make a summer, yet we persist in trying to prove our dubious points by flushing a bird or two from the bushes and calling them a "flock."

When parents correct or reprimand a child, they should never say, "I'm only doing it for your own good," which the child quite properly resents as smug hypocrisy; they should say, if anything, "I'm doing it for my own good, because it makes me feel better to try to make you into the kind of child I want you to be."

When a bright man wants to be incessantly clever in conversation, he almost invariably makes a fool of himself: his wit, of which he is so proud, usually becomes the very vehicle of his downfall.

Some people can refuse to do a favor with more grace than others can confer a favor: and we would rather be refused with tact than obliged with oily self-satisfaction.

Speaking of types of personalities, I'm fond of the anonymous definer of a "pessimist" as being "somebody who's been forced to live with an optimist."

We cannot understand why boys generally follow the lowest and wildest among them, unless we recognize that boys need a vent for their anti-social impulses, and the leadership of such a boy allows them to give free rein to their rebelliousness without assuming the prime responsibility for their deeds: the bold leader is popular not because they value him in himself — in the end they desert him — but because he embodies their repressions, and they are using him more than he is using them.

The fatal defect with most flatterers is that they put so much cheese in the trap that there's no room left for the mouse.

It is easier to respect a person who depreciates us than one who wildly over-estimates us: the former can always be surprised when we turn out to be better than he thought, but the latter can only be disappointed when we fail to live up to his inflated estimated estimate of us. (Women, especially, have a secret contempt for the men who overvalue them.)

The finest test for distinguishing true love from false was most succinctly put by St. Augustine, when he said: "Love slays what we have been that we may be what we were not."

President Tries to Win Early Passage Of Civil Rights Bill

Committee Vote on Measure Scheduled for Next Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has taken a personal hand in an attempt to win Democratic leader Carl Albert passage this year of a civil rights bill.

But the best the President could get out of a White House conference with House leaders Wednesday night, informed sources said, was a decision to delay until next Tuesday a crucial committee vote on a bill which the administration feels is too strong to get through Congress.

Informed sources disclosed Wednesday night's one-hour meeting at the White House.

Nobel Prize To Greek Poet

Diplomat First of His Country to Win Coveted Honor

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Greek Poet, Giorgos Seferis, was awarded the 1963 Nobel Prize in literature today.

Seferis

Seferis, a 53-year-old diplomat, is the first Greek ever to receive a Nobel prize.

The 18-member Royal Swedish Literary Academy said Seferis was awarded the 255,000 crown ($51,158) prize "for his eminent lyrical writing, inspired by a deep feeling for the Hellenic world of culture."

"Seferis' poetic production is not great in size, but because of its unique thought and style, and its beauty of language, it has become a lasting symbol of all that is indestructible in the Hellenic acceptance of life," the academy's permanent secretary, Dr. Anders Osterling, said in his citation.

Water and Islands
"When reading Seferis we are sometimes reminded of a fact that is sometimes forgotten: Geographically Greece is not only water and a thousand islands, an ancient sea kingdom, the perilous and storm home of the mariner. This Greece is the constant background of his poetry, in which it is conjured up as a vision of harsh and tender greatness."

The academy announcement added that "it has given the Swedish academy great pleasure, through this prize to Giorgos Seferis, to pay tribute to the Greece of today, whose

Hassan Offers to Meet Ben Bella

MARRAKESH, Morocco (AP) — King Hassan II offered today to meet Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella "anywhere and without prior conditions" to stop bloodshed between the two North African nations.

At the same time, the youthful monarch appealed to Ben Bella to quit what he called undermining of the Moroccan regime.

Hassan told a news conference he is making no prior conditions on a meeting with the Algerian chief of state to iron out all difficulties between the two nations.

Britain Asked to Double Funds for Education

LONDON (AP) — A government-sponsored committee recommends that Britain spend $4 billion to more than double its university enrollment by 1981.

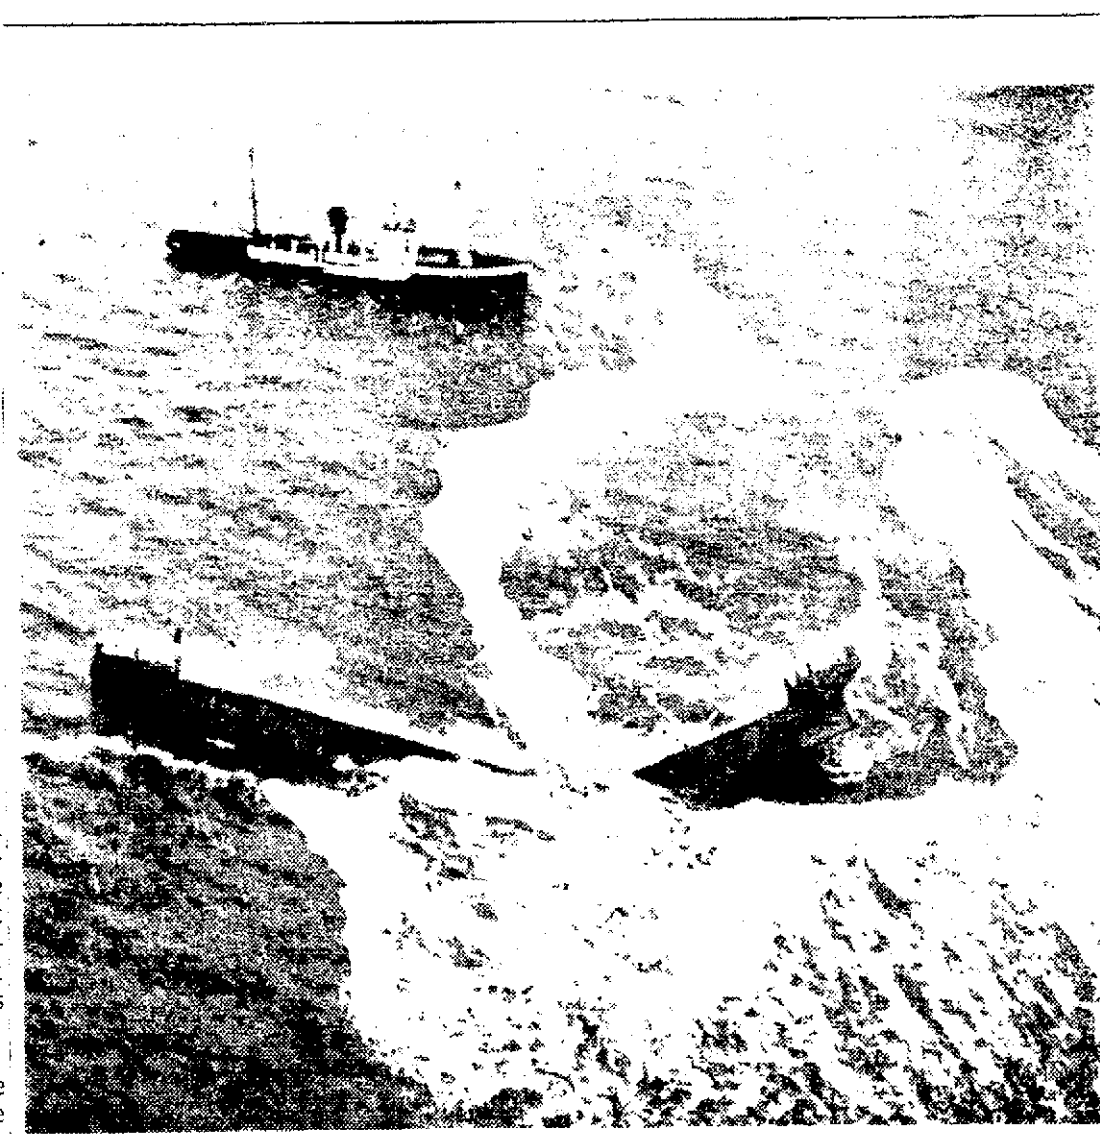

The committee said Britain lags behind the United States in higher education.

It recommended Britain's universities be increased from 32 to 60 and said this would make room for 560,000 students, as compared with 216,000 at present.

Big Lift Speeding To Its Completion

Gigantic Troop Ferrying May Be Concluded This Evening

BY CARL HARTMAN

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Exercise Big Lift moved swiftly and efficiently ahead today.

The Army and Air Force had with all indications pointing to set a 72-hour deadline for completion ahead of schedule for the historic airlift or more than 15,000 American troops from Texas almost to the iron curtain.

By 7 a.m. (1 a.m. Eastern Standard Time) 150 of the big four-engine transports had brought 9,436 men of the 2nd Armored Division to bases in West Germany and France. Military spokesmen thought the bulk of the transatlantic ferrying would be completed by 10 p.m.—some 63 hours after the first C135 jet took off from Bergstrom Air Force Base near Austin, Tex.

The Army and Air Force had with all indications pointing to set a 72-hour deadline for completion ahead of schedule for the historic airlift or more than 15,000 American troops from Texas almost to the iron curtain. "Smoothest thing I've ever seen," said Brig. Gen. R. H. Safford. "I'm sure that in a tighter situation we can even beat this time."

Big Lift's clockwork operation and assurances by top American officers did not quiet the fears of West German officials and newspapers that the airlift might be a reduction of American troops in Europe.

Sale of Downer Land Needs OK By Legislature

State Must Raise $10,000,000 Price For Purchase

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Acquisition of the property of Milwaukee-Downer and Milwaukee College in Milwaukee by the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee is contingent upon the will of the Legislature to raise the $10,000,000 agreed-upon purchase price, state officials said today.

The regents of the university Tuesday announced their approval of the purchase of the property of the girls' school adjacent to the campus of UW-M, as the trustees of Lawrence College of Appleton and Milwaukee-Downer simultaneously announced the merger of their resources and their educational programs on the Lawrence campus.

A. W. Peterson, vice president of business affairs for the University, explained that the parties are aware of the need for legislative approval of the transaction to make it effective.

Lack of Ready Cash
He and other officials said they assume that the state will arrange to cover the purchase price for the Downer buildings and land through a bond issue, because of the lack of ready cash in the state treasury available for a legislative appropriation.

But the bonding capacity of the state through its building corporations for the next two years is not known.

New York Couple Become Parents Of Quadruplets

NEW YORK — (AP) — Quadruplets, three girls and a boy, were born last night to a Rego Park, Queens, couple at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

Early today the hospital said Mrs. Rhoda Brecker, 27, and

Mrs. Brecker Brecker

the four babies all were in satisfactory condition.

Mrs. Brecker had known she would have a multiple birth, the hospital said, but had not known it would be quadruplets.

Mrs. Brecker and her husband, Martin, have been married almost six years. They have no other children. The mother resigned last spring as a Brooklyn school teacher. The father is an attorney.

The children, in order of birth, were a girl weighing 4 pounds; a boy, 2 pounds, 15 ounces; a girl, 3 pounds, 11 ounces; and a girl, 2 pounds, 12 ounces. The government accused them of sabotaging U.S.-owned oil installations.

Hurricane Hits Florida Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Ginny lashed Florida's upper east coast with gales today as she crept closer to land.

But the Weather Bureau said Ginny probably wouldn't whip the shore within the next 12 hours. Even if she did, forecaster Gordon Dunn said, "there should be no major damage."

Although the Weather Bureau wasn't taking bets on where Ginny would go next, a course 50 to 100 miles offshore parallel to the Florida coast was predicted.

Thompson's Position
In his petition, the attorney general argues that a governor cannot replace an officeholder except with a nominee confirmed by the Senate.

In cases in which a vacancy occurs through resignation, the attorney general takes the position the governor may make an interim appointment and the appointee will serve until the next election.

23 Terrorists Under Arrest in Venezuela
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Acting on a tip from peasants, 15 government troops Wednesday arrested 23 pro-Castro terrorists in a mountain hideout 95 miles east of Caracas. The government accused them of sabotaging U.S.-owned oil installations.

Conservation Body Likely To Await Outcome of Fight In State's Supreme Court

MADISON (AP) — Sheboygan appointee can serve unless he is and Madison will be the scenes of a Friday of skirmishes in the court. Reynolds chose Leonard F. Smith to represent W. Reynolds' power of appointment in the Supreme Court suit. Schmitt is expected to take positions as conservation commissioners at a take original jurisdiction in the Sheboygan meeting. The commission is expected to refuse to Schmitt also may ask that the seat Martin Hanson of Mellen be allowed to intervene in the case. While he did not say what the attorney general's response to such a request would be, Tulane said he would be in place Charles could see no grounds for the governor to intervene.

A pair of Reynolds' appointees to concur in the attorney general's request that the conservation commissioners at a take original jurisdiction in the Sheboygan meeting. The commission is expected to refuse to Schmitt also may ask that the seat Martin Hanson of Mellen be allowed to intervene in the case. While he did not say what the attorney general's response to such a request would be, Tulane said he would be in place Charles could see no grounds for the governor to intervene.

Court Decision Awaited
Roy Tulane, an assistant attorney general, said the Conservation Commission has been advised to "preserve the status quo" on the commission until settlement of a state Supreme Court suit aimed at testing the governor's appointive powers.

"The two new men can be present," Tulane said, but Smith and Rahr are to be "recognized as members of the Commission."

Preliminary arguments are scheduled Friday afternoon in Madison on a Supreme Court order for several appointees to show cause why the court should not take original jurisdiction in the test case.

Thompson Starts Suit

Atty. Gen. George Thompson started the suit in which he alleges a governor has no power to oust a person from office and replace him with an appointee of Wausau has been the subject of much controversy.

A U.S. Senate subcommittee is considering the appointment. The bar's office in Madison office until Jankowski's appointment made public a letter sent to the 5,055 attorneys explaining the poll action taken by the organization's executive committee. With the letter went a two-part claim to the post of conservation commissioner "is identical ballot."

Possible Referendum

The first question asks if a referendum among attorneys on Rabinovitz's qualifications is desirable. If the answer is in the affirmative, the other portion of the ballot provides space for a vote on whether or not Rabinovitz is considered qualified for appointment.

A notation says that results of the ballot will not be made public unless a majority of the ballot cast answer "yes" to the first question. Oct. 31 was set as the deadline for receipt of ballot.

In the opinion of the executive committee the Senate subcommittee considering the matter "might be aided if it had an expression of the opinion of the lawyers of the state."

Fund-Raiser for GOP

Goldwater Follows Own Formula In Travels Throughout Country

BY WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Advice from the White House cuts no ice these days with Sen. Barry Goldwater. But the political formula the Arizona Republican follows is in line with an unsolicited tip from President Kennedy.

Goldwater, a possibility for the GOP presidential nomination next year, has spanned the continent twice on a hectic two-weekend round of speaking engagements.

Kennedy's Comment
Kennedy said two weeks ago Goldwater could win the GOP nomination, but it would take "a trying seven or eight months; which will test his endurance and his perseverance and his agility."

The formula is one that has made Goldwater a champion among Republican fund-raisers. He says it has acquainted him with Republican workers from coast to coast, and he credits that for his showing in the public opinion polls.

Goldwater's travels have few publican presidential pot began boiling.

He says most of his speaking dates, from Massachusetts to

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, possibilities for the Republican presidential nomination, have been crisscrossing the nation expounding their political views. Neither is an announced candidate at this point, but they are giving thousands of voters a look at their campaign techniques. How do they operate? What have they been saying? Associated Press reporters who have traveled with them provide an assessment—today, how Goldwater ticks. A story on Rockefeller will follow.

Goldwater says he's logged a million miles for the Republican cause, running up an air travel bill that averages $10,000 a year.

Amid talk that he is veering toward the middle of the road in the gathering battle for the nomination, Goldwater said once more that he hasn't changed his ideas—people are just starting to pay more attention to them.

"My basic conservative philosophy remains the same," said Goldwater.

He summed it up this way: "You make your progress best on the known and proven values of the past."

Most of the time, the senator and his wife have been traveling alone, or with only one aide, but now he's thinking of sending out advance men and taking along more help.

The senator's political audiences have been receptive, if not wildly enthusiastic. Much of the noise they make is stirred up

General Fund Transfer Gets Board Protest

Tax Cut Shift Too High, Finance Chairman Says

OSHKOSH — The transfer of $175,000 from the general fund to cut back this year's tax levy was not good business, Winnebago County Board members were advised Tuesday. That was the opinion of Supv. Norbert Redlin, Neenah, finance committee chairman and county auditor M. H. Morrisette. The board began its annual budget session today. Supv. Redlin said the county had too tight a budget and a transfer such as $175,000, which was voted last fall to cut the tax levy, was too much. "The Taxpayers Association wanted us to figure it close but we figured it too close," Supv. Redlin commented. Morrisette reviewed the county's financial status and stressed that except for the general fund, the county was in good financial condition. He said the committee likes to keep the general fund at about $150,000 to $175,000. The amount of readily available cash has depleted to a precarious position. The increase in delinquent taxes, up about $50,000, according to county treas. Frank Luedeke, and an advance of about $38,000 to the State Aeronautics Commission were two reasons why the general fund has been reduced this year. Another was a $30,000 overdraft for one of the county departments where the expenses ran greater than anticipated. Luedeke reported to the board that the amount invested in short term investments this year was about $175,000 higher and that the investment revenues were up about $15,000. This he said was because, in two large inheritance tax payments in the north end of the county, the county was able to hold these payments for several months before turning them over to the

Appleton Girl, 9, Wins Big Hobby Club Prize

BY LILLIAN MACKESY Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A little girl with a big idea is the latest National Hobby Club winner and consequently the proud owner of a set of books on science, geography and words. Mary Sturm, 9, Sacred Heart School fourth grader and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Sturm, 1503 S. Oneida St., has won a prize that all of her seven brothers and two sisters can use. Of course, some members of the family will have to grow up a little into "reading" age before this is possible. Mary's three-volume prize includes a junior dictionary, "Everyday Problems in Science" and "In All Our States," just about right to help enrich the school work of brothers Fred, 14, Bob, 13, Dick, 12, Jerry, 11, and Mary herself. Coming up the school ladder are Dan, 8, Karen, 7, with pre-schoolers Joe, 5, Tim, 3 and baby Kay, 8 months, completing the Sturm family. The winsome, dark-haired Mary, who readily admits she likes her play hours as well as those in school, dreamed up an ingenious presentation of the Sept. 11 Young Hobby Club contest to rightfully earn one of the five national prizes. The only other national winners for that week were Hobby Club fans from South Bend and Indianapolis, Ind., Brookline, Mass., and Westfield, N.J. She took the 12 miniature heads of football players printed in the weekly puzzle and, after correctly marking the one different from the rest, created a football team from them and placed them on a playing field. The football players were made from pipe cleaners. The football field was made in the bottom of an oblong cardboard box, first covered with glue then sprinkled liberally with sparkling green sugar. After the field stripes and pipe cleaner goal posts were added, Mary state and the county picked up about $10,000 that way, his report showed.

Valders at Kiel.
Chilton at Elkhart Lake (non-conference)

Holstein is undefeated and the Tigers need help from elsewhere in the conference if they hope to gain a title tie. Plymouth, however, is not likely to provide the help. The Panthers won their first game of the season last week and should prove to be no problem to the loaded Huskie machine. The injury-riddled Brillion Lions, 1-5-0, will play host to a good Kohler Bomber 11, and the visitors will go into the contest as favorites. A better than average quarterback, Paul Maki, has guided the Bombers to a 3-2-1 mark to date. Valders, 4-3 will close out its season a week ahead of the rest of the league Friday when the Vikings invade Kiel. Powered by Cliff Brennan, the Vikings should cap the campaign on a winning note. The hosts still are looking for that first win over a league opponent. Without the services of their outstanding halfback, Dave Hilbelink, the Oostburg Flying Dutchmen will be modest underdog in their clash Friday with the Sheboygan Falls Falcons on the Elkhart gridiron. Hilbelink is suffering a knee injury.

Conference Lead Teams

Comets and Chiefs Competing for Top Spot

WAUPACA — The top game of place in the standings will be shared by all three teams.

Weed said the Weyauwega team is a strong unit and he expects that game to be on a par with the Waupaca-Bonduel game. Waupaca won that game 7 to 6.

Chiefs Heavier
He said the Weyauwega defensive line will average about 190 pounds per player, heavier than the Waupaca line. He said the team with the best defense will probably win the game.

"If we are going to win, it will take a good ball game," Coach Weed said.

The Comet coach said the Waupaca team played spotty ball Saturday afternoon at Iola although they won a 24 to 0 decision over Iola-Scandinavia.

Rick Riddle Versatile
He said the Comets looked good on some plays and then lapsed and lost yardage. He singled out Rick Riddle as a boost to the Waupaca team. He said Riddle played much of the first half on the defensive team and played halfback on the offensive team.

Coach Weed said all of the Waupaca players saw action against the Thunderbirds.

Waupaca gained 169 yards, 11 by air and 158 on the ground and Iola-Scandinavia gained 79 yards, 45 by passing and 34 by rushing. Waupaca had 13 first downs and Iola had three. Waupaca completed two out of 14 passes and Iola-Scandinavia connected with four out of 12.

Doug Kolb opened the scoring for Waupaca with a 27-yard field goal and he later added three extra points. The Waupaca touchdowns came on short plunges with Tom Halverson going over from the four. Roger Green breaking through from the five and Paul Reyes cracking the line from the two.

Ordeal for Jimmy Van Ryzin, 4

Gentle Touch, Words Soften Hurt For Boy With Hand Caught in Door

BY JEAN OTTO Post-Crescent News Service

Jimmy Van Ryzin had a lot of new experiences Wednesday afternoon. Not all of them were fun, but when you're four-years-old, you forget the bad parts easily and remember the rest.

Things Jimmy will remember are his mother's gentle touch and words of comfort; neighbors standing around with soft looks in their eyes; his twin brother's quiet, watchful stare; the sound of sirens; deep strong voices, and a new name—Sam—bestowed with affection by the men who eventually lifted him into their arms, ruffled his hair and solemnly examined his swollen hand.

Jimmy and his brother Allen sat down to watch cartoons on television after lunch Wednesday noon. His three older sisters went back to school and the baby took a nap. Before Mrs. Carl Van Ryzin, 732 S. Fairview St., went to the basement to sort laundry she told her boys they could play outside in the mild October sunshine.

Heard the Message About 1:30 p.m. she heard a scream, but the boys often screamed when they saw bees, and she thought little of the sound. Then, it came through as a cry of honest pain, and she ran outside. Jimmy was inside the garage, his hand wedged tightly in the hinge of the swinging doors. Telling herself to be calm, she gently closed and opened the door, trying to widen the opening. Jimmy screamed loudly with the slightest movement of the door. Giving him a quick hug, Mrs. Van Ryzin ran to a neighbor for help. Judging that it was hopeless, the neighbor suggested calling a fire department squad.

"It couldn't have been more than five minutes, but it seemed like ages," Mrs. Van Ryzin said of the wait for help. The firemen directed that Jimmy's hand be thoroughly lathered with soapy water. As they took over, Jimmy became too interested in what they were doing to cry. He watched quietly as they manipulated the door with crowbars, all the while calling him "Sam" and telling him what a big boy he was and patting him on the shoulder. In about 10 minutes he was free.

Lifted High, Examined That's when he was lifted high and hugged warmly and examined for broken bones. There was nothing to show for his agony—the first thing to be forgotten—except bruises and swelling and a small scratch on the back of his hand. He could manfully shake hands with the firemen who'd freed him, and he was able to use the injured fingers for cracking peanut shells.

And he was able—and quite willing—to take up with his brother the pursuit of boyish pastimes.

It's not easy for a four-year-old to know how such things happen, but the knowledge that doors have special dangers will probably remain for quite a while.

And the entire incident was remembered long enough to tell Dad about at supper time. He's had quite an unusual day.

State Agency Cites Alarming Dropout Rate

Committee Gives Report Showing
16 Per Cent Figure

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A state youth service agency today produced figures to back up what it calls an alarming school dropout rate in Wisconsin.

The "dropout" was defined by the Governor's Committee on Children and Youth as any student who leaves school before earning a high school diploma. By that test, 16 per cent of the present school population of the state, or more than 160,000 of more than one million boys and girls now enrolled in elementary and high schools in the state will become educational fatalities, the committee said in a special report to schoolmen and others.

Earlier this week Appleton assistant superintendent of schools William Spears told the PTA Council that Appleton's dropout rate is in the 18 per cent range, which he called "too high for a community of this stature." He said school officials are studying the problem and trying solutions.)

Not Inferior Students

"It is a startling fact that one out of five students with superior intelligence will drop out of school before they graduate from high school," the document asserted.

The committee illustrated the costly nature of the school defect problem by noting that in 1957 there were about 59,132 students enrolled in the ninth grade of Wisconsin high schools.

But two years later the 12th grade in those schools had only 49,326 students, meaning that 9,806 had left school.

Solution Will Be Local

The committee said the solution of the dropout problem, if it is found, will be found in the localities, under local civic and school leadership. Clues to the solutions, it suggested, may be found in studies showing that the dropouts generally are not enrolled in extra-curricular activities while they attend school, that their fathers have less education and a lower income level than the fathers of fellow students, that they average one report card grade lower in all subjects, and that they are at least two years retarded in reading ability at the time they leave school.

Republican Win In South Hailed As Basic Gain

DALTON, Ga. (AP) — A Republican won a special election to fill a State Senate vacancy, and the GOP state chairman hailed the result as "an indication that Republican gains in the South really are basic."

R. S. Thomas, a carpet mill employee, led Democrat James Phillips, a lawyer, by nearly 6,000 votes out of the approximately 6,000 cast Wednesday. They are seeking the Senate seat vacated by Charles Pannell, a Democrat who recently was appointed to the Georgia Court of Appeals.

State GOP Chairman James Dorsey said in Atlanta that the election outcome reflected organization and local support for party efforts.

Thomas will take his seat in January along with three other Republicans in the 54-member Senate. Georgia also has 2 Republican in the 205-man House.

Moon Rocket Program Faces Another Delay

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the use of the centennial meeting of the National Academy of Sciences as a platform for criticizing the U.S. man-to-the-moon program did not sit well with the academy's president, Frederick Seitz.

Seitz called Pauling into conference Wednesday and told him the centennial was "a birthday party and not a forum for a political discussion."

Pauling, twice winner of Nobel prizes, had said in his speech Tuesday that the amount of money being spent on the moon project would provide answers to "1,000 interesting questions about the human body for every one question answered about the moon."

Pauling told newsmen "I see no reason for me to withdraw the statements I made."

NEW CHIEF: Walter C. Williams, operations director for Project Mercury, will direct all manned space flight missions for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The appointment was announced Wednesday.

The 730-pound Ranger VI was designed to transmit televised pictures of the moon during the 10 minutes before it crashes onto the moon's surface.

RERUN?: Republican National Chairman William E. Miller says it is not impossible that Richard E. Nixon will get the GOP presidential nomination in 1964, but "it is not probable."

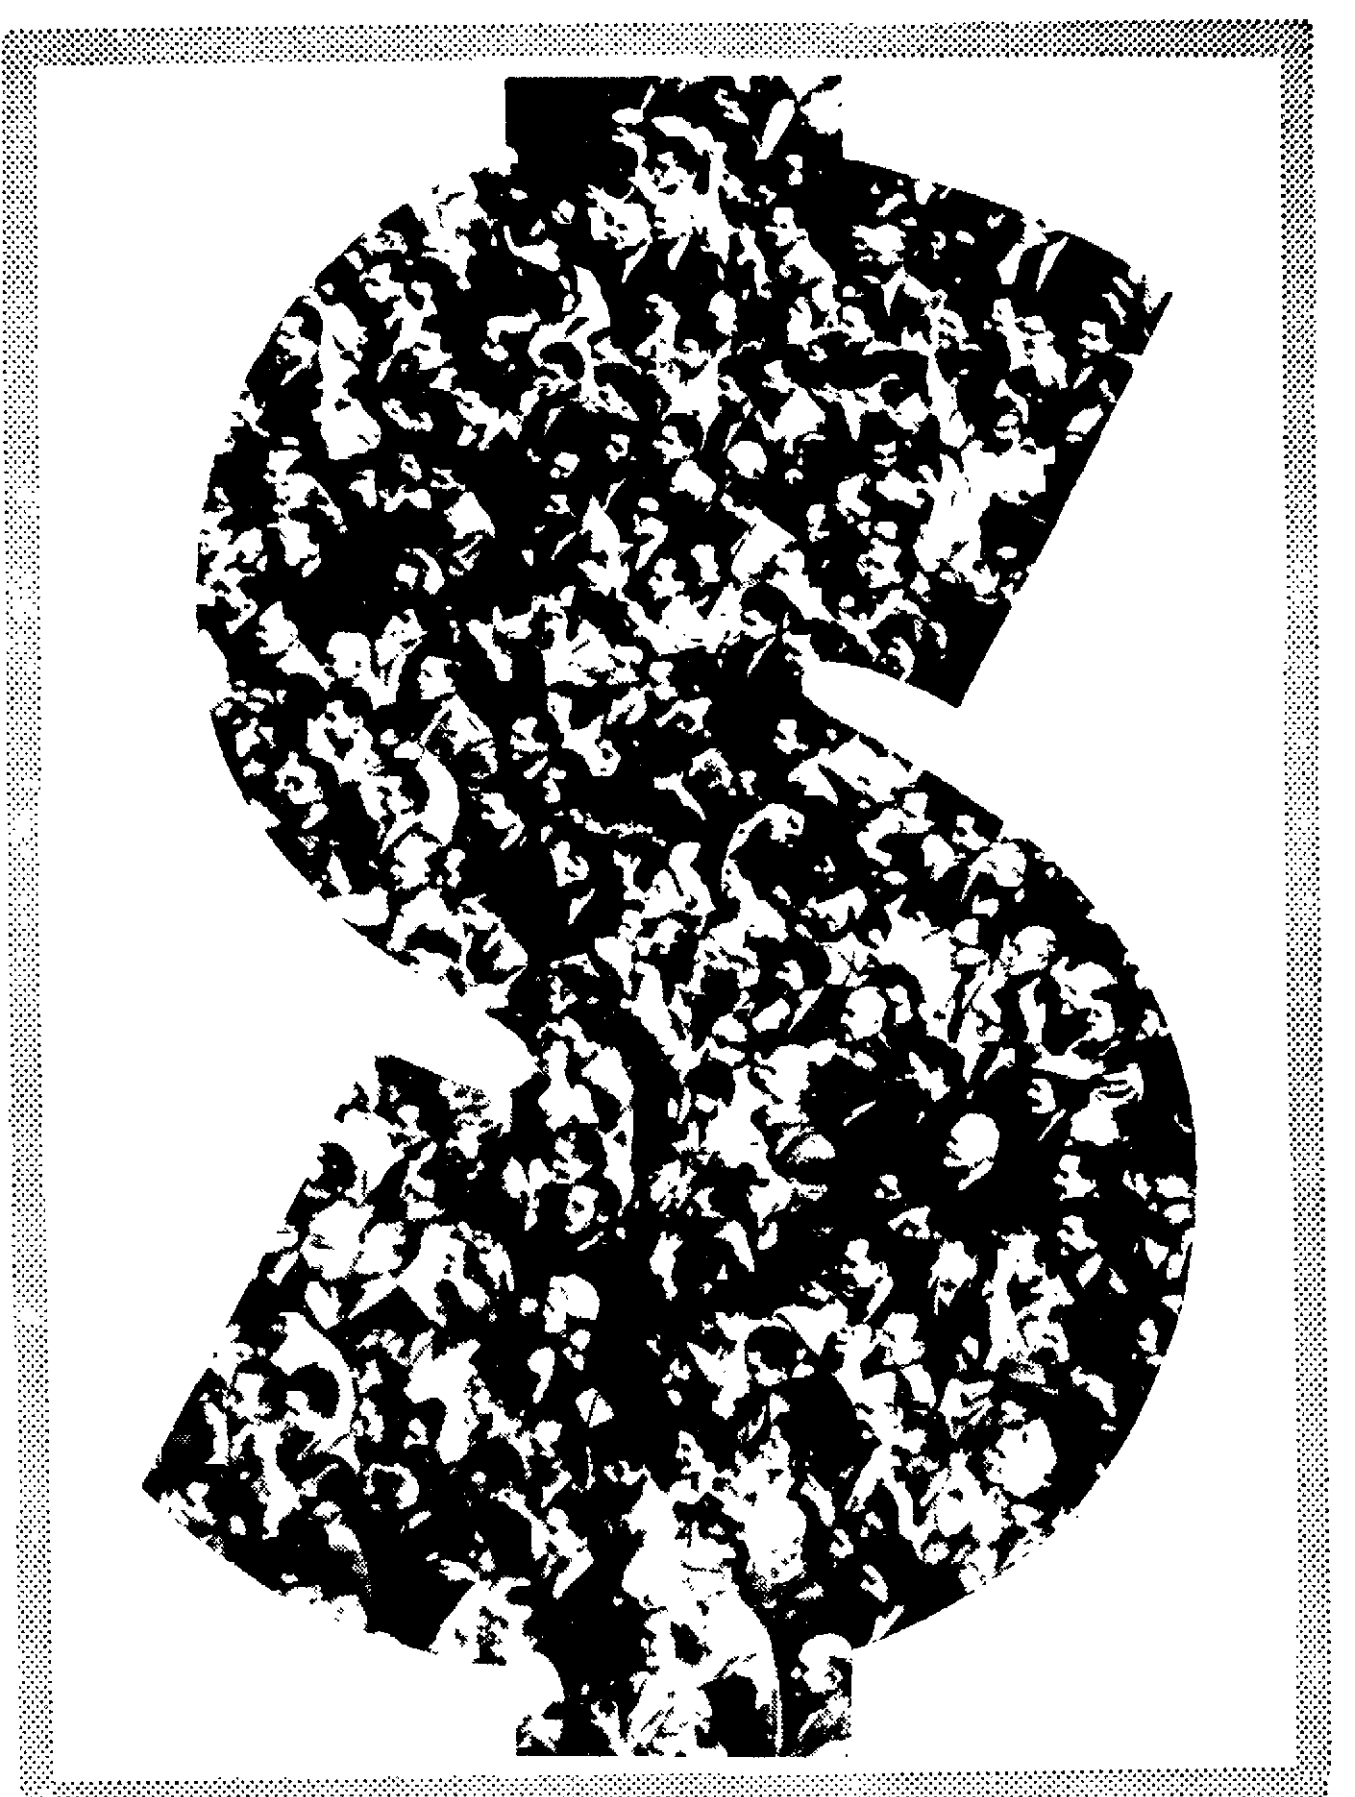

Miller made this comment Wednesday at a news conference when asked if he thought Nixon, who narrowly lost to President Kennedy in 1960, was a candidate.

New Parish Officers Announced

That sounded like a death- knell before the bill ever reached Congress.
From the very beginning of 1963, Kennedy's major concern was getting Congress to cut taxes. Later civil rights became a major problem, too. But no big administration pitch was ever made for medical care.
Maybe it will be made next year, the election year. It might have been a different story last year or this if Kennedy had provided real leadership in fighting for medical care. But he didn't. And yet, while Congress is busy now with a tax cut and civil rights, it had plenty of time to act on medical care since Congress in 1963 has been ex- traordinarily tardy in getting anything done.
Parish officers for the new St. Thomas More Catholic Par- ish in northeast Appleton are John S. Toppins, secretary, and Ray McClone, treasurer.
The Rev. Patrick McMahon is pastor of the parish, which was established this fall.
Officers of the women's group are Mrs. Louis Mauthe, presi- dent; Mrs. Joseph Baumann, vice president; Mrs. Orville Yingling, secretary, and Mrs. Ronald Jilek, treasurer.
On the nominating committee for parish officer posts were Richard Kessler, Ray McClone, Willard Johnson, John Toppins, Arliss French, Dr. Robert Scher- zinger and Father McMahon.
The parish has been using the Rainbow Garden ballroom as a temporary meeting place and place of Sunday worship.

Beghin Wins Round in Head Warden Fight

Restraining Order Prevents Commission From Filling Post

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A rejected candidate for the position of chief warden of the State Conservation Department Wednesday night won a skirmish in his fight for command of the fish and game enforcement branch. Dane County Circuit Judge Richard Bardwell granted a temporary restraining order preventing the State Conservation Commission from naming a chief warden pending the outcome of a hearing in the appeal of Kenneth Beghin who charges that the Civil Service examinations for the position were invalid.

The Conservation Commission has scheduled a meeting in Sheboygan Friday, at the same time that the State Board of Personnel will start hearing the complaint of Beghin that he was illegally defeated in a test of candidates for the enforcement office.

Permanent Injunction
Bardwell will hear arguments here Nov. 4 on the issuance of a permanent injunction that would prohibit an appointment to the warden's office before the board of personnel has concluded its consideration of the Beghin appeal.

Walter Zelinske, acting chief warden, was certified by the personnel department as the highest ranking candidate. Two others were certified as eligible. Beghin was not.

His appeal is based on the formal protest that the examination was conducted contrary to law.

Had the legal procedure been followed, he claims he would have been certified as ranking no less than second among the eligible aspirants.

Recommendation Made
It is not known that the commission would have made the selection at its Friday session, but it has been reported that Director L. P. Voigt has made a recommendation for appointment from the personnel bureau's list of certified candidates. The Voigt recommendation was before the commission a month ago, but it was not acted upon.

Zelinske has been head of the enforcement division on an acting basis since the retirement of George Handland about a year ago.

Rosenzweig Is Named Aide to Playboy Chief

CHICAGO — Appointment of Richard Rosenzweig to the newly-created position of assistant to the president has been announced by Hugh M. Hefner, president of both the HMM Publishing Co., Inc., publishers of Playboy magazine and other subsidiary enterprises, and Playboy Clubs International, Inc.

Rosenzweig, a native of Appleton, was associated with Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., before joining Playboy in 1958. He previously served as assistant promotion director, assistant to the midwestern advertising man-

Hyde Park Cottage Is Up for Sale

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) — The hide-away cottage where President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt served hot dogs to England's King George VI and Queen Elizabeth in 1939 has been put up for sale.

The cottage is three miles east of the Hyde Park Roosevelt family estate. Roosevelt designed the cottage and used it as a place of solitude.

After the President's death in April, 1945, the house was occupied by a time by his son, Elliott. In December, 1952, Elliott sold the property to Philip S. Potter, Sr., Poughkeepsie, N.Y., petroleum and gas dealer.

It was the Potter home until his death last April. His sons, Robert and Philip Jr., have put the house and 10 acres on the market.

Goldwater Has Own Formula

by youthful Goldwater fans—who have become the senator's cheerleaders around the country.

But Goldwater says crowds-manship and polls don't win nominations—and primary elections don't guarantee delegate support. He points to the fate of the last conservative champion to bid for the White House, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who lost the nomination to Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952.

Goldwater's travels usually are weekend journeys or one-night stands. And he insists they haven't kept him away from his work at the Capitol.

In New Hampshire on Oct. 29, he may start sounding more like an active campaigner in the undeclared scramble toward the nomination.

New Hampshire holds the nation's first presidential primary on March 10, and Goldwater says it is the state in which he has spent the least time during his years of travel for the Republican cause. Rockefeller stumped New Hampshire last weekend.

President Asks Speed For Civil Rights Bill

But they also tacked on other provisions, such as a fair employment practices commission and power for the attorney general to file suits on behalf of alleged victims of civil rights violations.

Politics Major Factor
These had been asked by the hard pressing civil rights groups. Strong convictions played a part in the subcommittee decision, but so did politics. Democratic members firmly expected the Republicans in the full committee to try to cut the bill back more in line with Kennedy's proposals, thus incurring the wrath of civil rights groups.

The Republicans refused to do so. Instead, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy went to Capitol Hill last week to urge that the measure be toned down.

He said some of the new provisions probably were unconstitutional. He said he favored the fair employment practices commission, but as a separate bill.

And, he said, the beefed-up bill was just too strong to win the middle of the road support needed for final House and Senate passage.

His statements drew prompt fire from several civil rights leaders.

The program outlined by the President earlier this year — which is included in the bill now before the committee — would, among other things, give the attorney general more power to insure Negro voting rights and prohibit racially segregated schools. It also would ban discrimination in public accommodations.

Jackie Robinson Says He's 'Rockefeller Man'

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Jackie Robinson, former Brooklyn Dodgers baseball star, said he passage of a "Rockefeller man" would support the New York governor in any office he sought. Robinson was the first Negro in major league baseball.

Robinson told a Presbyterian Church gathering that, while he lives in Connecticut, not New York, "I admire and respect the governor so much that if he asked me to become a New York state resident, for any reason, I would do so."

Longer Halloween

Earth's Spin Slower by One-Tenth of Second

BY JOHN BARBOUR
WASHINGTON (AP)—Halloween, a week from tonight, will be the longest Halloween on record—by a tenth of a second. Blame it on some terrestrial witchcraft that has been slowing the earth's spin on its axis for the last several months. Earlier this month, scientists decided to set back their clocks by a tenth of a second to catch up with the slower earth time, as an aid to navigators and astronomers and the like who need precise time. Man has always used the spin of his earth between night and day as the measure of time. But when he developed atomic clocks that beat to the vibration of atoms, he found he had a far more precise and absolute time measure. The earth, he discovered, slowed down and sped up at irregular intervals and this had thrown off some of his precise calculations. Now the National Bureau of Standards and the U.S. Naval Observatory broadcast time signals, in cooperation with other nations, to ships at sea and other interested persons. Their time is atomic time.

Catholics to Vote on Use of Local Language

Prayerbook Would Be More Meaningful To Priests, Laymen

BY BENNETT M. BOLTON
VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican Ecumenical Council votes today on proposals to make the Roman Catholic Church's prayer book more meaningful to priests and laymen by allowing prayers to be recited in local languages instead of Latin.

The proposals are part of the fourth chapter of a schema (topic) on liturgy, designed to simplify methods of worship and bring them closer to the faithful.

Earlier this week, the 2,300 prelates attending the council approved 13 amendments to the chapter. Today's balloting is on the entire chapter. Approval was considered certain, although some bishops may express reservations to be incorporated into amendments.

New Authorization
The chapter authorizes bishops and superiors of such religious orders as the Jesuits and the Dominicans to allow local languages to be used in the divine office—the set of prayers every priest must read each day from his breviary or prayer-book.

The council already has approved similar authorization for use of the vernacular in the Mass and the Sacraments.

The chapter "warmly commends" to laymen the practice of saying the divine office daily, even though ecclesiastical law does not require them to do so. They will use the local language.

Other Proposals
Other proposals reduce some of the prayers in the divine office and authorize bishops to exempt a priest from the strict obligation of saying his office each day.

As with the chapters on the Mass and the Sacraments, the reservations expressed in the voting go to the council's liturgy commission, which studies them and boils them down to a few amendments. The amendments then will come before the council for approval, but another vote will not be held on the entire chapter once it has been approved.

First Chapter
The first chapter of the liturgy schema, setting forth general guidelines for a wide renewal in public worship, was approved during the first council session last year.

After the council completes action on the entire liturgy schema, it will go to Pope Paul VI for promulgation if he approves it. National and regional conferences of bishops then will decide what changes to make in their own areas.
